Ambassador Rejects All Red Charges

Says Reds Waging
Anti-American Press Campaign

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
MOSCOW (AP) — The U.S. Embassy denied renewed Soviet charges of spying Wednesday and accused the Russians of waging an anti-American press campaign.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry summoned a U.S. Embassy official and demanded an end of the alleged spying by embassy employees in Moscow.

Ambassador Foy D. Kohler anticipated the Soviet complaint and through his representative rejected the charges as unfounded.

Through his subordinate, Kohler lodged his own complaint, accusing the Russians of conducting an anti-American campaign in their press and through television. The Soviet Union said it could not agree with this.

The Black Path

American officials, assessing the latest developments, said they thought the spying episode may be played out. But they voiced puzzlement at the seemingly stepped-up press charges against U.S. Embassy employees and the repeated showings in the theaters and on Moscow television of an anti-American film, called "Along the Black Path."

The film includes scenes taken from hiding, by secret police, of U.S. diplomats and visitors in the Soviet Union.

American sources said the campaign did not appear to jibe with the Soviet posture of peace. They said the Soviet government departments involved did not seem to be fully coordinated in their actions.

Alleged Part Of Ring

Although the Soviets demanded an end to the purported spying, they did not demand expulsion of all five U.S. Embassy officials accused earlier this month in the Soviet press of operating in a spy ring.

Two of the five have left Moscow for home—one ordered out by the Soviets, the other sent home by the U.S. Embassy.

Expulsion has not been demanded for the three remaining—the embassy doctor, Air Force Capt. Alexis Davison, 31, of Atlanta, Ga.; Second Secretary Robert German, 35, of Dallas, Tex., and embassy security officer Hugh Montgomery, 39, of Springfield, Mass.

Soviet newspapers charged these five were part of a ring and linked them with Oleg Penkovsky, 43, a Soviet scientific worker, and British businessman Greville Wynn, both of whom are waiting trial on spy charges.

British Prefer American Music

LONDON (UPI) — The sound track for the movie "West Side Story" was chosen Wednesday by more than 100 British record columnists as the best long-playing recording of the year.

Frank Sinatra gobbled up the next four places with "Sinatra and Swinging Brass," "I Remember Tommy," "Great Songs from Great Britain," and "Sinatra with Strings."

Frank Sinatra's "I Remember You" was voted the top single record of the year, followed by Acker Bilk's "Stranger on the Shore."

Nat King Cole and George Shearing topped third with "Let There Be Love" and the Tornadoes won fourth with "Telstar."

Soviet Cancels Appointment Of Farming Expert

Nikolai G. Ignatov
Has Ups And Downs

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikolai G. Ignatov, a farming expert who has had an up-and-down career in Soviet government and Communist party affairs, is down again. And the party leadership in the virgin lands of Kazakhstan has been shaken up.

The Soviet news agency Tass announced Wednesday the removal of Ignatov, 61, from the deputy premiership to which he was appointed only last April. Ignatov has served in the interval as one of 11 deputy premiers under Premier Khrushchev and as chairman of a committee to step up a drive for increased food production.

Last year he was removed from the Communist party's ruling Presidium. However, a week ago he was named to the largely honorary post of president of the Russian Federated Republic, the largest of the Soviet Union's 15 states.

Tass mentioned no reason for his loss of the deputy premiership.

But its announcement coincided with the dismissal of two Communist party executives accused of "serious shortcomings and mistakes" in Kazakhstan, virgin lands republic that has failed to live up to Khrushchev's expectations in the production of grain.

Izvestia, the Soviet government newspaper, announced the firing of the Kazakhstan party's first secretary, Dimukhamed A. Kunayev, and the second secretary, N. N. Radionov. The paper said Ismail Y. Yusupov, a subordinate secretary who has made a reputation in southern Kazakhstan as a cotton-growing specialist, was named to replace Kunayev. Mikhail Solomentsev got Radionov's job.

The shakeup came at a party meeting under the chairmanship of Frol R. Kozlov, a Central Committee Presidium member who is often referred to as the heir of Khrushchev.

India Rejects Chinese Memo

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India has rejected a Chinese Communist memorandum of Dec. 9 threatening to "counter-attack" if India does not accept the Chinese line of actual control, it was announced here Wednesday.

The Indian reply described the Chinese memorandum as "clearly inconsistent with the Chinese government's profession of their desire for disengagement of the forces of the two sides based on the line of actual control prior to the invasion."

The Indian statement was contained in a memorandum handed to the Chinese Embassy here, the announcement added. It said it replied to a memorandum in which the Chinese asked for clear answers to their three-point proposal for ceasefire, a 12½-mile withdrawal from the line of actual control of November, 1959 and a meeting of officials to lay down a demilitarized zone.

HAVANA (UPI) — The U.S. freighter African Pilot sailed out of Havana Wednesday, carrying 1,000 Cuban relatives or ransomed invasion prisoners to join their loved ones in the United States.

The 10,000-ton ship sailed for Port Everglades, Fla., at 6:45 p.m. EST.

The Coast Guard in Miami reported shortly after 9 p.m. that the vessel was making 16 knots on its journey northward and should arrive at Port Everglades at about 9 a.m. Thursday.

Three Coast Guard cutters accompanied the vessel, which will be unloaded in a closed area of the port. The Coast Guard said the public would be excluded at the disembarkation, but that the relatives will be taken to Dinner Key auditorium in Miami for a mass welcome.

Women and children began walking up the long gangway to the American Red Cross-chartered freighter at 1 p.m. EST. Within nine minutes, more than half of the African Pilot's 1,000 passengers were aboard.

The departing relatives had to walk about two miles along a hot, dusty trail Wednesday to reach the boarding area. Guards inspected their luggage and articles considered in excess of restrictions placed on those leaving were taken from suitcases and thrown into cardboard boxes.

Men boarded the freighter after the women and children had been quartered. Several women were carried aboard on stretchers because of heat and emotional stress. Others collapsed on reaching the deck.

Several crates of oranges and one case of beer were carried aboard. The master of the African Pilot, Alfred Boerum, rejected anguished pleas he take aboard more than his allotted 1,000 passengers.

One More Exodus
In Miami, the president of the Prisoners' Mothers Committee, Mrs. Conchita Mendieta de Guierrez, said Cuban Premier Fidel Castro had agreed to at least 100 more exiles.

Embargo Placed On Shipments For Export

NEW YORK (AP)—Railroads placed a voluntary embargo Wednesday on export freight shipments to struck Gulf and Atlantic Coast ports in an effort to prevent a choking pileup of goods on the waterfronts.

The four-day-old strike by 60,000 longshoremen showed no sign of ending. No bargaining session was scheduled.

Members of the New York Shipping Association—representing 135 domestic and foreign lines in the dispute with the International Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO—met to vote confidence in the management negotiating committee.

A spokesman for the ship owners said that before negotiations broke up Sunday they had "offered to sweep all our proposals off the deck if the union would likewise take all its demands out of the way."

The chief issue in the dispute is the size of dock work gangs, now limited to a minimum of 20 men. The shipowners, calling the limit featherbedding, want the minimum cut to 17. Longshoremen reply they will not negotiate their jobs away in the name of automation.

The Association of American Railroads said the curtailment of shipping to ports will not affect military shipments or supplies for which there are storage facilities in the struck ports from Maine to Texas.

Struelens Fights U.S. Deportation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Michael Struelens, American representative of Moise Tshombe's secessionist Katanga Province, Wednesday lost further ground in his fight against deportation from the United States. U.S. immigration officials said they denied Struelens' appeal for permanent residence in this country.

Plebiscite May Be Considered For Kashmir

India, Pakistan
To Probe Question

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—The chief of an Indian negotiating team said Wednesday night India might agree, under certain conditions, to a plebiscite in Kashmir.

Railways Minister Sardar Swarn Singh said in an interview he came with an open mind for talks with Pakistani authorities, beginning Thursday, about the future of the bitterly disputed border state. He heads an eight-man delegation that arrived Wednesday.

Prime Minister Nehru's government has always opposed a vote among the largely Moslem people of Kashmir that would permit them to decide whether they should join Moslem Pakistan or India, predominantly Hindu. India has ignored a U.N. resolution calling for such a vote.

No Quick Answer

But Singh said if Pakistan's delegation proposed a plebiscite and if that was found to be the most suitable solution, India might agree.

There appeared, however, to be little prospect of a quick settlement. Neither side has shown any great readiness to compromise.

The United States and Britain watched with concern from the sidelines. Arrangements for the feuding neighbors to meet were promoted by U.S. and British military-political missions which checked last month on India's arms needs in its border war with Red China.

A side effect could be worsening of the relations of India and Pakistan with the two big Western powers. The Americans and British are accused by some strident voices, particularly in India, of twisting arms to get a solution.

West Assurances

The intercession came after Pakistan, a military ally of the West, expressed strong fears that modern American and British arms rushed to India, a bellwether of the nonaligned, would one day be turned against it in a revival of the war over Kashmir. Western officials assured the Pakistanis that India would return the weapons when the India-China border crisis ended.

The feud over the princely border state broke out in war soon after Pakistan and India were created out of the old British India in 1947.

Winter Sets New Lows In Many States

By The Associated Press

A massive pool of icy air flooded much of the West and Midwest Wednesday, washing out low records for the date in some states.

The -14 in Milwaukee broke a mark for Dec. 26 that had stood for 83 years. Madison, Wis., -22, experienced the coldest weather for the date in 78 years. Green Bay, Wis., also set a record with -19. Viroqua, Wis., with -28, established a low for any December.

Los Angeles felt the chill of a low temperature of 43 for the second day in a row. It was the lowest there for Christmas and the day after the holiday since 1954.

Two California towns — Bakersfield and Santa Maria — recorded new lows for the month of December near the 20-degree level.

The mercury tobogganed to -31 in Craig and Eagle, Colo., and to -29 in Hibbing, Minn.

Thermometers registered zero or lower in at least 15 states—from the western mountains across the north to Michigan. The zero zone extended as far south as Oklahoma.

As the cold moved eastward, scattered snow fell in parts of the Great Lakes region and the Appalachians. Rain or drizzle dampened some areas on the western stretch of the Gulf Coast.

Light snow fell in Montana and North Dakota ahead of another outbreak of polar air.

U.S. Super Secret Satellite In Orbit

NEW YORK (UPI)—A super secret American satellite, so sensitive it can eavesdrop on Russian telephone messages, is now orbiting the earth, Newsweek magazine reported Wednesday.

Called the Ferret, the secret robot inspector contains intricate electronic and electromagnetic sensors to track down clear, coded and scrambled transmissions and relay them to United States listening posts, according to the magazine.

645 Killed In Traffic

By The Associated Press

Traffic killed 645 persons during America's four-day Christmas holiday.

All accidents cost 837 lives, including 107 lost in fires and 85 in all other types of mishaps.

Severe winter weather in much of the nation was a paramount factor in both traffic and death tolls.

The traffic count did not reach the pre-holiday range of 650 to 750 estimated by the National Safety Council. It was well short of the 706 record for a four-day Christmas set in 1956.

However, the toll for the 102-hour period from 6 p.m., Friday to midnight Tuesday was substantially higher than a non-holiday weekend period of equal length would be likely to cause.

The safety council said such a figure is 470. The Associated Press actually counted 371 traffic deaths from 6 p.m., Friday, Dec. 7, to midnight Tuesday, Dec. 11. In that span there were 64 fire deaths and 76 from miscellaneous accidents—511 accident deaths in all.

FBI Arraigns Man Suspected In Bank Robbery

CHICAGO (UPI) — Suspected bank robber Charles E. Bebout, 32, was arraigned here Wednesday before U.S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley Pike who set bond at $50,000.

Bebout, who was picked up early Wednesday by FBI agents at O'Hare Airport, is charged in a $30,000 Columbus, Ohio, area bank robbery. He is to be returned to Columbus for trial.

FBI agents said Bebout had about $1,400 in his pocket at the time of arrest. They said he was unarmed and offered no resistance.

Officials said the suspect is currently wanted in Denver, Colo., for larceny, forgery, carrying concealed weapons and fraudulent sale of an automobile. He is a parolee from a Michigan federal institution.

JFK To Meet 5 Leaders Of Cuban Invasion

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy arranged Wednesday to meet with five leaders of the Cuban invasion of 1961—four of them just released from Cuban prisons.

They will be joined by the head of the Cuban Families Committee, which arranged for the release of the 1,113 men captured when the invasion plan failed.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger, who announced the meeting, said the Cuban group had requested the session.

It will be held at 5 p.m. Thursday at the oceanfront home the President is occupying here for the holidays.

Salinger said he had met with the Cuban leaders in Miami Wednesday afternoon to arrange the talk with the President.

Asked what the meeting would be about and what they would discuss with the President, Salinger said: "I think they would rather tell you themselves."

President Kennedy announced Christmas Eve his elation at the release of the Cubans, who were taken prisoner in the Bay of Pigs in an invasion that had the go-ahead and backing of the Kennedy administration.

Baby Born Drunk

TORONTO (AP)—The Canadian Medical Association Journal reports a case of a baby born drunk to a 27-year-old Yukon mother who was in an alcoholic stupor. The 4-pound 15-ounce infant's breath was alcoholic and for 24 hours the child was jerky, jumpy and had delirium tremens symptoms, the article said. Living with foster parents now, the baby is reported normal.

President Gives Basic Plan Okay

Dillon To Present
Fiscal Program
To Ways, Means

By ALVIN SPIVAK
PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — President Kennedy gave his approval Wednesday to the basic framework of the administration's tax reform program, including a top-to-bottom tax cut. The program will be presented to the House Ways & Means Committee next month by Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon.

The Chief Executive met here for about two hours with his top fiscal and economic experts, discussing the tax program, the budget for fiscal 1964 and prospects for pushing administration proposals through Congress next year.

Dillon said that during Wednesday's session the President gave his final approval to the basic structure of the tax bill to be submitted to the new Congress.

Face Coordinating Job
The secretary said he and his Treasury associates now faced the job of putting together the actual bill. The mechanics of putting a detailed program on paper will start at once, Dillon said as he prepared to return to his own winter home in nearby Hobe Sound.

Kermit Gordon, the new budget director, and Walter Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, reported considerable progress at Wednesday's session. Other budget meetings affecting specific departments will continue here this week with defense scheduled for Thursday and health, education and welfare on Friday.

Gordon and Heller said the principle ideas behind the President's tax program would be reflected in his State of the Union message and annual economic report next month, but that actual details must await Dillon's appearance before the Ways & Means Committee where all tax legislation must originate.

The government finance experts said there were so many aspects of the overall tax program involved that the Chief Executive might send a special tax message to the Congress. Such a message obviously would be in connection with Dillon's committee appearance in which he would unveil the operating details of Kennedy's proposals.

There also was discussion of inevitable and possibly larger federal deficits. Participants in the meeting were reluctant to discuss actual figures, but they recalled the President's speech Dec. 14 to the Economic Club of New York.

In that speech, Kennedy said a federal deficit would not be permitted to postpone tax reduction proposals or allowed to cut into essential national security programs.

"Our practical choice is not between a tax-cut deficit and a budgetary surplus," Kennedy said. (Continued On Page 4)

Soviet Fires Several Tests Over Holidays

Hints Will Halt Detonations Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union, which has hinted it might stop nuclear testing by Jan. 1, conducted a "number" of nuclear detonations over the Christmas holidays, the Atomic Energy Commission said Wednesday.

The AEC said the devices, varying in explosive power from low range to many megatons, were set off in the Dec. 23-25 period.

The biggest was on Dec. 24, the AEC said. This had a yield of 20 megatons, equal to 20 million tons of TNT.

On Tuesday the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said the Soviet Union would halt tests as of the first of the year if "the United States, Britain and France do likewise."

The United States and Britain have rejected any uncontrolled moratorium on nuclear tests. The U.S. testing series in the Pacific is now over, but underground tests still are being conducted periodically in Nevada.

Up to the Christmas period, the Soviets had set off 36 nuclear explosions in their current testing series, the AEC has said.

According to Swedish scientists at the Uppsala, Sweden, detection station, three more were set off in the Dec. 23-25 period.

$25 Million Coal Loading Pier Opened

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — The Norfolk and Western Railway Co. Wednesday opened its huge new $25 million coal loading pier here while the rest of Hampton Roads Port facilities were quiet by a longshoremen's strike.

The pier's opening took on 4,597 tons of coal, the first from mines along the railroad in Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky, processed through mechanical loading devices.

The pier's initiating shipment was consigned to Bethlehem Steel Co. at Sparrows Point, Md. Stuart T. Saunders, president of N&W, said the opening of pier 6 marked a new era in coal transportation.

The pier is designed primarily for loading 35,000 to 50,000 ton super-coalers in international trade. The pier facilities include two giant traveling loading towers that can service two ships simultaneously and dump at a rate of 16,000 tons an hour.

The coal-laden cars are picked up and turned over, dumping their cargo on conveyor belts. The pier facilities include a means of blending coal from different coal veins while it is being fed into waiting ships' holds.

Trouble Develops In Dock Walkout

NEW YORK (UPI) — A trouble spot in the maritime strike developed in Galveston, Tex., Wednesday and a longshoremen official warned the dockworkers would fight fire with fire to keep East and Gulf Coast ports tied up until a new contract is signed.

The official was Thomas (Teddy) Gleason, vice president of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) and chief negotiator for the 75,000 stevedores.

Elsewhere, no incidents were reported as hundreds of pickets turned out in force along idled piers and wharfs from Maine to Texas.

The ILA put up token pickets Sunday night and Monday but pulled them all down Tuesday so dockworkers could spend Christmas with families.

Extra police were called out in Galveston to prevent possible violence from angry longshoremen because 100 members of an independent union crossed picket lines up to unload 50,000 boxes of bananas from the Swedish freighter Brita Thordon.

"We are getting the engineers and crewmen about that ship to shut off the steam, if possible," Gleason said.

"And the boy that is buying those bananas... sooner or later he will have to bring them into New York. We'll get back at him, don't worry about that."

The independent union is the newly formed Banana Union Workers Cooperative. Members said ILA pickets warned them that it might not be "healthy" to cross the picket lines, but they ignored the threat and went to work.

Gleason said that the strike was 100 per cent effective elsewhere along the two coasts.

The next move in the walkout, which resumed Sunday as soon as an 90-day "cooling off" period under the Taft-Hartley law expired, is up to federal mediators.

"It depends on what Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz intends to do," Gleason said.

"He has never removed himself from the picture; so as a matter of protocol the next move is his."

Wirtz spent the holidays in Chicago with his father, who is ill. The labor secretary was scheduled to return to New York Thursday.

Negotiators for the New York Shippers Association, bargaining agent for 145 steamship and stevedore companies, scheduled a meeting Wednesday to consider their next move.

Harriman Predicts Red China-Soviet Rift Will Grow

By SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Secretary of State W. Averell Harriman predicted Wednesday that differences will grow between Communist China and the Soviet Union in their fight for leadership of world communism.

In an exclusive interview, President Kennedy's top adviser on Far Eastern affairs said there will be continuing competition and difficulties between the two Communist rivals.

"Which one will gain is anyone's guess," he said. "Moscow believes that the only true believers are those that will accept Moscow's leadership."

"Peking has never been willing to accept that situation, and now, I think, is bidding for leadership itself."

Both want to "destroy everything we believe in," Harriman said, but of the two "the Chinese have a more dangerous point of view and may become the more dangerous threat to the free world."

He said he did not foresee a complete break but added, "I feel that this breach is greater today than it ever has been—it's more out in the public."

Harriman, a former ambassador to Moscow, continued: "Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev told me in 1959 that if Red China got into a major war that the Soviets would fulfill their obligations under their treaty, which you will recall is a military alliance against Japan or anyone allied with Japan."

UN Security Council More Pro-Western

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The United Nations Security Council will be a bit more pro-Western in 1963 than in 1962 as a result of the Philippines replacing Communist Romania on Jan. 1.

Three other new members also will take council seats on Jan. 1, but with little effect on the ideological composition of the 11-nation peace-keeping arm of the world organization.

Norway will succeed Ireland, Brazil will succeed Chile, and Morocco will succeed the United Arab Republic. These three new members were elected by the recent General Assembly for two-year terms.

Jackie Gives JFK Christmas Gift "For The Man Who Has Everything"

FAIRHAVEN, Mass. (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy gave the President an inscribed whale's tooth for Christmas, it was disclosed Wednesday.

Milton, Delano, an artist and engineer, etched the presidential seal on the tooth at Mrs. Kennedy's request and delivered it to her at the summer White House at Hyannis Port, Mass., in October to disclose the purchase price.

The item is known as Sperm whale, which the President collects. The tooth, Delano said, was one of the largest he ever has seen measuring 9 1/2 inches long and 4 1/2 inches in diameter. Delano said it took him about 240 hours to fashion the seal and polish the tooth. He declined to disclose the purchase price.

Do You Suffer From Sick, Throbbing Migraine Headaches?

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available
Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula. (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seizer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drugstore. Now available without prescription.

Economist Proposes $8 Billion Federal Income Tax Reduction

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An $8 billion cut in federal income taxes and a slash of $1.5 billion for corporations. He made the proposals in the association's magazine "Looking Ahead."

He warned, however, that the tax cuts would not immediately create enough new business to wipe out unemployment. In fact, he conceded it might have little effect on the present level of employment before 1964.

But he said that if there is no tax cut in 1963, growing unemployment benefits inevitably will lead to large government expenditures.

Albania Quits Economic Bloc

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Communist Albania was reported Monday to have quit the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance, the Soviet bloc's economic organization.

Albania has sided with Red China in the ideological dispute with the Soviet Union.

Mine Workers Plan Merger

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Mine Workers Union plans to merge on Jan. 1 the West Virginia counties in the union's District 31 which has headquarters at Fairmont, W.Va.

A union spokesman said today Maryland counties in District 16 will be under the jurisdiction temporarily of district headquarters at Uniontown, Pa. These counties will continue temporarily under the direction of John L. Mayo, who will be transferred to Uniontown from Cumberland, Md. The Cumberland office, he added, will be closed.

The spokesman said the Maryland membership in District 16 consists primarily of pensioners since coal mining in that area has declined.

"We don't feel there is enough work to warrant a full time man and office at Cumberland," he added.

Chaplain Describes Mass Held In Prison Cell

By JAMES K. CAZALAS

HOMESTEAD AFB, Fla. (UPI)—A large religious medallion worn about the neck of a woman was used to smuggle sacramental wine and wafers into the prison where Cuban invaders were held so a clandestine Christmas mass could be held, a priest said Monday.

The Rev. Ismael De Lugo, 46, a chaplain with the invading brigade, said the woman twice brought them wine and wafers—necessaries for the celebration of mass which was forbidden in prison.

Three-hundred captives attended the first mass on Christmas Eve of 1961—celebrated in a dingy cell with eerie shadows dancing on the stone walls from a small, flickering candle as armed guards played rummy upstairs.

A rickety table, the only piece of furniture in the big, damp common cell, became an altar.

The shivering prisoners huddled on their knees and prayed silently for fear the guards would overhear, Father De Lugo said.

The priest, wearing dingy khakis instead of the usual resplendent robes of the Roman Catholic church, breathed the Latin prayers of the mass in a hushed tone.

After mass, he said, the men passed around several cups of cold chocolate drink, and then sang Christmas carols in a whisper.

"For many of them, it was a happy Christmas—a lonely and uncomfortable Christmas, to be sure, but a joyful one for it was our first mass since April," the priest said.

Father De Lugo arrived Sunday with the first batch of prisoners, and as he stood on this sprawling air base awaiting the return of the rest of the captives, he recalled: "Even though we were forbidden to pray, even though it was difficult, we prayed the rosary in our hearts without uttering a sound."

"Thank God, it will be different for us all now," the priest said. "We will pray openly and fervently to thank God for this act."

East Berliners Christmas Is Bleakest Yet

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berliners burned candles in windows of homes Christmas in a demonstration of sympathy for unfortunate kinsmen behind the Iron Curtain.

Electric lights also blazed on Christmas trees strung along the Western side of the anti-refugee wall. The Eastern side was dark.

There was no relaxation of the guard on both sides of the Communist wall dividing Berlin. Armed East German police patrolled in the freezing weather to prevent refugees from trying to escape. The Communists again refused to open the border for Christmas reunions of families split by the wall.

U.S. soldiers also were on duty at Checkpoint Charlie, the crossing point in the wall at Friedrich-Strasse. Western Berlin police stood by, too.

Hundreds of American soldiers were invited for Christmas dinner by West Berliners. The troops in turn entertained West Berlin children at parties.

West Berlin shops were loaded with food, in contrast to the nearly empty shelves in stores on the other side of the wall.

It was a bleak Christmas for East Germans, the worst in years. The Communists promised that every East Berliner would be able to buy a goose. But there were not enough to go around and many families went without. In East Berlin, goose sold at $1.25 a pound compared with 38 cents in West Berlin.

As a "special Christmas treat," state-operated shops offered smoked fish and sardines, rationed two cans to a family.

17 Killed In British Train Crash

LIVERPOOL, England (UPI)—A London-bound passenger train crowded with holiday travelers returning from Scotland rammed into the rear of another passenger train Wednesday night near an isolated Cheshire hamlet.

British railway officials said 17 persons were killed and at least 50 injured. Several persons were trapped in the telescoped wreckage of the rear car of the train that had been rammed.

Rescue crews, hampered by freezing temperatures, were searching the twisted wreckage. Fire engines, ambulances, doctors and nurses rushed to the scene from nearby towns and villages.

The accident occurred at the isolated village of Minshull Vernon about 37 miles southeast of Liverpool and 150 miles north-west of London.

The train struck from behind en route from Liverpool to Birmingham. The second was en route from Glasgow to London.

N.Y. Newspaper Strike Talks Are Deadlocked

NEW YORK (UPI)—Publishers and striking printers stood firm Wednesday and federal mediators called off joint talks as the strike that has closed down nine newspapers went into its 20th day and became the longest in New York City history.

"It was agreed generally that further meetings today would be of no use," said Stephen Schlossberg, special assistant to the director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Schlossberg was obviously displeased. He broke off talks last Saturday and admonished the two sides to come back from the Christmas holidays "ready to start moving together."

"I told both sides that mediators need something to work with," Schlossberg said.

The Publishers Association of New York and negotiators for Local 6 of the International Typographical Union met separately with mediators before Schlossberg arrived.

When he arrived at the talks, mediators told him that "neither side has showed any movement."

"I want to hear that report myself," Schlossberg said, and called the two sides together for possibly the briefest session since the strike began.

The joint meeting lasted about 20 minutes. Schlossberg said he asked both sides to return for another meeting Thursday morning.

The longest previous newspaper blackout was in December, 1958, when deliverymen walked off the job for 19 days. That strike resulted in an estimated $50 million loss in wages and revenues.

The current strike is costing an estimated $1.3 million a day in lost advertising and some $3 million per week in lost wages for the 20,000 employees idled by the walkout.

The last known offer by the publishers of the nine papers was a package of $9.20 per week to be spread over a two-year period. The Printers have demanded a $38 package, a demand the publishers said threatens the survival of the papers.

Fish Clog Turbine

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—A glut of fish in the River Forth has shut down a turbine at the new Kincardine electric power station serving a large part of eastern Scotland.

The fish, sprats floating up and down with the tide, were thick enough to be hauled in with buckets. They got into the intakes of the cooling system at the power station and had to be shoveled.

State Had Fatality-Free Traffic On Christmas Day

By The Associated Press

Four persons died in traffic accidents in Maryland during the 102-hour Christmas holiday which ended at midnight Tuesday.

There were no fatal accidents in the state on Christmas Day, despite hazardous driving conditions caused by a snow storm that left up to seven inches of new snow on the ground.

The four holiday deaths pushed the 1962 Maryland death toll up to 579, far ahead of last year's total of 478 for a corresponding period.

The 1962 figure will go down as the second highest in Maryland history, exceeded only by the 612 killed in 1941.

Linton A. Pumphrey, 56, of Severn, was the 579th fatality of the year and fourth of the holiday. He was struck Monday as he crossed a highway in northern Anne Arundel County.

Two pedestrians and a motorist died earlier during the weekend.

Paul Burke, director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Council, said radio and television announcers had promised to help promote safety during the remaining days of this year. The special appeals started Wednesday.

Frederick Boy Starts 3 Fires

FREDERICK (AP) — City Police reported Wednesday that a 17-year-old Frederick youth has admitted starting three fires that caused an estimated $6,000 damage early Christmas Day.

Officers said the boy was charged as a delinquent and would be turned over to juvenile authorities. He was not identified.

The three fires were reported in a block in downtown Frederick within a half hour. Damaged were a granary office owned by Southern State Cooperative, an office of Ramsburg Fertilizer Co. and a warehouse owned by the Frederick News-Post.

Police said the youth also admitted setting fire to the cab of a truck. Damage to the truck was estimated at $500.

Maryland News Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services will be held Friday for John J. Ekin, 89, retired Baltimore and Ohio Railroad vice president.

Ekin, born in Whitestown, Pa., died Christmas Eve at a nursing home in Baltimore. He went to work for the railroad in 1902 and served in various capacities for more than 51 years.

Services were set for 11 a.m. Friday at the Towson Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Druid Ridge Cemetery.

house, police said, but only a brother, Lawrence, heard her screams. Police found the knife in the back yard of the home.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The State Department of Tidewater Fisheries has extended the deadline for re-registering power and sailboats to Jan. 31.

William B. Matthews Jr., chief of the Boating and Recreation Division, said the 30-day extension was authorized because his staff had not been able to process all applications for registration renewals.

GLEN BURNIE, Md. (AP) — More than $5,000 in cash and a diamond ring valued at $5,000 were taken by safe crackers from Dietrich's Tavern Christmas night, police reported Wednesday.

John Dietrich, owner of the tavern, told Anne Arundel County police he discovered the burglary about midnight. Also taken, he said, were checks, real estate deeds and business licenses.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 20-year-old West Baltimore girl, Patricia Snells, was awakened from her sleep early Wednesday and fatally stabbed with a 10-inch knife, police reported.

Investigators said the intruder entered by forcing the kitchen window and went to the third floor bedroom where Miss Snells was stabbed five times.

Six other persons were in the

President

"It is between two kinds of deficits—a chronic deficit of inertia as the unwanted result of inadequate revenues and a restricted economy—or a temporary deficit of transition, resulting from a tax cut designed to boost the economy, increase tax revenue and achieve a future budget surplus."

The conversations here Wednesday followed the theme outlined publicly by the President in the New York speech in which he said the present tax system was exerting too heavy a drag on national growth. To meet this situation and prevent the economy from stagnating, he promised to propose early in 1963 a reduction in personal and corporate income taxes and applicable to brackets from top to bottom.

Dillon doubted that he would be needed for an additional presidential conference before his experts start writing actual draft bill provisions, but said he planned to be in Hobe Sound for another week and could return on short notice should the President want to see him again.

Although there have been widespread reports from Washington that the final figure on the 1964 budget will be around $99 billion, the President's conferees today were reluctant to discuss figures.

Dillon said, however, because of the lateness in the year, it was most unlikely that any basic changes in major items would be made prior to its submission to congress next month. White House sources said the meetings here the rest of this week would be concerned with certain allocations within now-determined departmental totals, plus final decisions on certain programs requiring new legislation.

African Pilot

one more sailing to take out prisoners' relatives.

However, Enso V. Bighinatti, Red Cross official, said the African Pilot would be used only on the first trip.

Mrs. Mendieta estimated at least four ship trips would be needed to take out the more than 3,500 relatives waiting to leave Cuba.

She said Castro had placed no limit on the number of prisoners' relatives who would be permitted to depart.

However, the Cuban regime was advising the relatives they could take out of Cuba only the personal possessions they could carry. Their other possessions—in those cases where entire families were leaving—were to be turned over to the state.

The work of preparing the African Pilot — with accommodations for only 12 passengers—for 1,000 persons for the 12-hour trip went into high gear early Wednesday.

A Red Cross-chartered transport landed at Rancho Boyeros Airport with a medical team, including six nurses, 500 cots and 1,000 blankets.

The Cuban Red Cross fed the passengers before their boarding and provided them a box lunch for the crossing.

Nearly as active a scene as that at the waterfront was taking place at the suburban home of Mrs. Berta Barreto, a member of the negotiating team to free the prisoners.

Relatives of the prisoners arriving from interior points flocked to her home to put in their applications for departure. She told them the passenger list for the first trip of the African Pilot had been closed out, and to "wait for the second or third trips that will take place in a few days."

A source close to the Swiss Embassy, which handles American interests in Cuba, said, meanwhile, that nothing would be made public for the next day or so of reported negotiations with Castro for the release of 22 U.S. citizens in Cuban jails.

The talks were understood to have been started by New York attorney James B. Donovan, who also led the negotiations for the prisoner release. The source hinted that Donovan might return to Havana soon to resume the talks with Castro for the release of the Americans.

Reports also were current that the Castro regime soon might announce a partial amnesty for political prisoners. Their number is estimated to range in excess of 50,000.

State Employees Payroll System Is Automated

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes inaugurated Wednesday an automatic payroll system for state employees.

The governor watched a demonstration of the automatic machines printing paychecks. He also saw the machines produce a state such data as his weekly pay, social security number deductions, retirement fund, and longevity.

Tawes, Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and members of his staff, and representatives of the International Business Machine Corp. watched the demonstration of the machines in the payroll division of the comptroller's office.

The division will begin using the automatic business machines to pay some 17,000 state employees on Jan. 1.

Bernard L. Serviss, payroll chief, said five state offices, representing some 2,500 employees, will receive their paychecks by the new system next pay period.

There are 27 employees in the payroll division which now prepare the payroll manually. Serviss said there would be no appreciable change when the machines go into operation.

"We will be doing a lot more work. We will be taking a tremendous amount of work off the other state agencies," Serviss said.

"The actual run of the payroll will only be a matter of hours whereas it now is a matter of days."

Serviss said besides being faster and more efficient, the automatic system will also enable his division to make its audit before the checks are prepared and allow the state to have four paydays, instead of two, each month.

Serviss said the weekly payroll would not be installed until after the new system has all the "bugs" worked out of it.

Magistrate To Use Teen-Age Jury In Dealing With Youthful Offenders

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A "teenage jury" will sit in an Anne Arundel County Magistrate's Court Thursday to hear and possibly advise on cases involving youthful offenders in an effort to curb juvenile crime.

Propose Bridge

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—A government study committee has proposed construction of a bridge across the three miles of water between the cities of Helsingborg in Sweden and Elsinore, Denmark. Its report recommended the $140-million bridge be opened in 1975 and have a capacity of a million vehicles a year.

The Salvation Army, founded in London in 1865, was first known as the East London Mission.

Magistrate Robert S. Heise of Annapolis said Wednesday he will have a panel of six high school students in his court when he tries several cases involving juvenile offenses.

Heise said the revolutionary system will be patterned after a program originated in Jacksonville, Fla.

The panel hears a case and is allowed to question the offender. If a judge finds a defendant guilty, he often asks the jury its views on what punishment should be given.

The teenagers often suggest working in emergency wards of a hospital, writing themes or anything that would be more effective in curtailing other teenagers from getting into more trouble.

Jacksonville authorities have said the juvenile crime rate decreased by 50 per cent the first two months the teenage jury was in operation.

Heise said he did not believe the system could function on a fulltime basis in Anne Arundel County because of the possible conflict of times arresting officers could appear in court and high school hours.

Special Grand Jury To Probe Hoffa Jury Tampering Beginning Next Month

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A special grand jury will be convened here next month to look into charges that "close labor union associates" of James R. Hoffa were made to contact veniremen tried to tamper with jurors in his conspiracy trial.

U.S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller ordered the investigation in declaring a mistrial Sunday in the case against Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union.

Miller said he would call a special grand jury "soon after the trial actually started." The indictment is based on a land development project involving the alleged misuse of $500,000 in Teamsters Union funds. The dispute is based on whether the trial should be held in Tampa or Miami.

The next scheduled appearance of the Teamsters Union president in federal court is Jan. 4 in Miami, Fla., for arguments on a $180-million pension fund for possible mail fraud, fraud by interstate wires and conspiracy, whether there will be any.

Dist. Atty. James P. O'Brien announced Aug. 21 that a team of five special prosecutors headed by Charles Z. Smith of Washington would look into these operations as they might concern the Central States Conference of Teamsters.

No indictments have been reported from this investigation and there has been no indication labor peace at a Detroit-based firm which held a contract with the union.

The government charged the corporation set up in the maiden payments were made through a names of Mrs. Hoffa and the wife of another union official.

James F. Neal, special assistant to the attorney general, said he had no idea whether the government would seek a retrial of the case.

Commercial Carriers Inc., a Detroit firm, was indicted as a coconspirator but pleaded no contest. Disposition of that case was postponed until the Hoffa trial was finished.

Richmond, Va., in 1742, is said to have been the site of the first fair in America.

Girl Scout Troop 22 Has Yule Party

Girl Scout Troop 22, sponsored by Iota Epsilon Chapter, Tau Phi Lambda Sorority of Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, held its Christmas party recently at the Girl Scout House, Greene Street.

Miss Juanita Prine, sorority representative for the troop, attended and was presented a gift by the girl scouts. It was a picture of the troop around a Christmas tree in a Christmas frame which was made by the scouts.

Miss Prine led the girls in carol singing. Mrs. Geraldine Gilbert and Mrs. David Hoerth, leaders, presented each girl with a corsage and Christmas card.

The sorority furnished ice cream for the party refreshments which also included baskets of Christmas candy, chocolate cake, and punch. Twenty-nine scouts attended the event.

Jingle gifts were exchanged following the program.

Consider Area Rugs For New Look In 1963

If your home needs a "new look" for 1963, you might like to consider using an area rug.

What is an area rug? According to Miss Elizabeth Langsade, Home Furnishing Specialist at the University of Maryland, an area rug, as the name implies, is one used just in a certain part of a room.

An area rug is usually employed under or in the center of a group of furniture to define a special area. For example, one may be placed under the dining table to set apart the dining area. The rug functions as part of the furniture group. It is not added as an afterthought, but is part of a plan.

Area rugs may also be used on top of wall-to-wall carpeting. Another function of area rugs is to give color or interest to a room—an accessory, so to speak. The colors and patterns today are beautiful and unlimited.

In contrast to scatter rugs, area rugs are usually larger in size: 5 by 9 feet, 9 by 12 feet for larger rooms, or 30 by 40 feet in hotels and public buildings.

Scatter rugs are rectangular, round or oval. Today's area rugs are these shapes plus many more. They may be square, octagonal, hexagonal, triangular, or a completely free form made to order for the customer.

What are the fibers used? The fibers may be cotton, wool, nylon, dacron, acrilan, creslan, rayon, or blends of these. The rugs may be woven, tufted, or knitted.

What about the cost? There is a wide range in cost—something for every consumer and every pocketbook.

Area rugs are definitely something to consider for a change of decor. They are certainly more versatile than wall-to-wall carpeting.

Our Flag of Cumberland, Council 100, Daughters of America, will hold a games party today at 1:30 p. m. at the IOOF Hall, Virginia Avenue.

REUNION CHAIRMEN — Committee chairmen for the 10th anniversary reunion of Fort Hill High School Class of 1953 go over plans for the event which will be held in the form of a dinner dance August 17 at Shrine Country Club. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. Carole Jackson Jones, favors and tables; Mrs. Shirley Kessell

McDonald, co-chairman; Mrs. Nancy Purnell Grouden, finances. Standing, same order, are John S. Walker, program; George McGregor, memories; James Ellsworth, contact and Arthur Isom, co-chairman. Mrs. Noreta Boone was not present when picture was taken. The meeting was held at Fort Hill.

Toastmistress Club Has Holiday Dinner-Party

Mountainbrook Toastmistress Club of Cumberland held its Christmas dinner party recently at Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. Thomas James was toastmistress and Mrs. Raymond Smith, toastmistress.

Dr. Howard Brady and Dennis J. Donahue were guests. A Christmas program included a poem, "The Boy Who Laughed at Santa Claus," Mrs. Robert Quigley; a reading, "Christmas Is Made of So Many Things," Mrs. Howard Brady, and a reading, "Sixteen," Mrs. W. Neale Connors.

Announcement was made of the next workshop January 22, at the home of Mrs. Dennis J. Donahue, Braddock Road, LaVale.

Iota Epsilon TPL To Meet January 6

Iota Epsilon Chapter, Tau Phi Lambda of Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, will hold its first meeting of the year January 6 at 7:45 p. m. at the Girl Scout House, Greene Street.

The meeting is an annual one which centers around plans for the sorority's childrens home in Texas. The theme of the meeting will be "Dreams Come True."

The chapter gathered its fourth annual Christmas "goodies" basket for a local family which was delivered Monday. The basket contained home made candies and cookies and treats made by chapter members.

Still Fighting Frizz? Try Dry-Setting!

For every new technique suggested for home-setting the hair, there's a waiting crowd of disciples, eager to master the method . . . hoping that this particular idea will be "the" secret for giving their home-set hair a professional flair. And most of these disciples have one mutual bond—flyaway fine and breakable tresses, disappointingly frizzy and hard-to-hold.

The technique called dry-setting isn't new . . . but it may be new to you, so it's worth describing so that you can experiment with it. It works well on both coarse and curly hair as well as fine, and with both long and short coiffures.

The key to dry-setting's advantage is the same as that found in professional setting—loose pinning plus quick-drying. It's the overcooked tresses, rolled and pinned to the pulling point, left to dry "naturally" (even overnight) that emerge kinky and tight as breakfast sausages. Combed-out, these are the sets that shriek, "Homemade!"

Many women have found the portable hair-dryer to be "the" secret answer to this hair problem, for them. You may prefer the method described here, especially if you'd like to avoid applying direct streams of dry heat to your delicate hair.

Here's how to do it: After a gentle, but fast shampoo and cream rinsing, your hair should be allowed to dry by air. You may want to hasten the process by working a thick terry towel over sections of your head, which is a big help when your hair is long or when you find the furnace-heated winter air in your home unkind to your hair. Winter and summer, toweling hair dry packs a bonus that makes it worth the extra step—it's a good substitute for high-polish brushing and scalp massage.

Set the dry hair as you usually do, being certain that you are not pulling the tresses skin tight (a painfully tingling scalp will warn you).

Now, wring out a terry towel in very hot water and wrap it around your head a la turban. Keep the turban in place for about five minutes. The steam will penetrate each pin and roller curl to dampen it just enough for a springy body setting.

After the towel is removed, you may net the hair to keep the curls in place. Short and medium coiffures should be ready for comb-out in about 15 minutes; long hair may take a few minutes more.

If you've observed all directions, you should be rewarded with a delicate-looking (but truly tough) set of curls that brushing will not flatten or frizz. It should last two or three days before interim re-setting, perhaps longer depending on your hair style.

There are about 180 kinds of holly, the Christmas shrub.

Miss Mary Gehauf, Miss Wanda Lee Hanks, Bessie Hanks, Mr. and Mrs. William Jenkins, Orville Kendall, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Landis, William Lewis, Mrs. Louise Lemmert, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shanholz.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smouse, Mr. and Mrs. John Workmeister and Mr. and Mrs. Droze Zembower.

Mary Martha Class Has Yule Dinner

Lighting of the Christmas Candles was the theme of the Christmas program and dinner held by Mary Martha Bible Class of Grace Baptist. Mrs. James Kirkpatrick was in charge.

Mrs. Randolph Keefe introduced guests. Rev. Keefe gave the invocation and Frank Trozzo gave the response.

Hints Hemlines May Drop Pervade Fashion Industry

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Hints that hemlines are in for a drop in 1963 pervade the fashion industry.

But don't rush into letting out seams. Based on the bulk of spring and summer 1963 shows from New York designers, the hemline for a while at least promises to remain at kneecap height where it has been for several seasons. But the hints are there. The Burke-Amey spring collection for instance, dropped skirts to calf length, one of the most drastic hand-downs New York fashion has seen in several years.

Last June, James Galanos of California paraded hemlines down an inch from his previous collection. Simonetta and Fabiani, in their Paris shows last July, both showed lengthening skirts. One veteran fashion observer, Robert Riley of the Brooklyn, N. Y. Museum's costume division, believes skirt lengths are due for a change.

"Dames no longer want to look like juvenile delinquents with knee-high skirts and befeeced hairdos," said Riley. He foresees "longer skirts in the mood of the alluring Vionnet named for a Paris' most famous designer of the 30's . . . not the Dior 1947."

Fashion otherwise offers a smorgasbord of ideas, with the emphasis on easy-fitting clothes, softness from bias cut, and more variations of the pullover than you'll find in a locker room. Also still very much around — the heightened waistline.

Coats come both slender and full, but the slender silhouette is the leader for spring.

Suit jackets are longer, some are belted, and the favorite jacket silhouette is the demi-fit.

Skirts leave walking room, ranging from the slightly gathered to the flared and box-pleated.

Annual Flea Fling Scheduled Friday At K of C Home

The 13th annual Flea Fling will be held at the Cumberland Council 586, Knights Of Columbus Home, Friday from 10 p. m. until 1 a. m.

Music for dancing will be provided by Buck Trimble and His Flea Flingers. Camp clothes are required.

When relining a coat, buy a good quality fabric for long wear. A lining fabric should be firmly woven and colorfast so it won't fade or crack onto other garments. Read labels before buying.

Bridge Club Plans Annual Holiday Party

The annual Christmas party of Western Maryland Bridge Club will be held following a game at 8 p. m. today at Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Last week John A. Moberly and John R. Wilkinson were top winners with a score of 136.

Runners-up in north-south were Mrs. Arthur Friedland and A. J. Feigus, 125; Mrs. Russell Bortz and Miss Alice Stakem, 119½; and Mrs. Frederick Puderbaugh and Mrs. Louis Waingold, 109.

Top scores in east-west were Mrs. Ralph Nevy and George F. Bottorf, 131½; Mrs. Norman W. Taylor and Dr. Paul Castelle, 122½; Mrs. Madeline Mewshaw and Mrs. James Rexroad, 115; and Mrs. William S. Snyder and Edgar J. Dawson.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Tom V. Litzenburg, 653 National Highway, are spending a winter vacation at The Homestead, Hot Springs, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Cree, Neeham, Mass., visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Wilson, 3 Lyon Street, Ridgeley, en route to Colorado Springs, Colo., where Mr. Cree has been transferred.

Mrs. Pauline Robinson, Lakeland, Fla., a former resident, has returned to her home, 1861 East Main Street, from Lakeland General Hospital where she has been a patient since suffering a heart attack December 10.

Birth, Death Led 1962 Headlines In Women's World

By HELEN HORWITZ

CHICAGO (UPI) — Birth and death, the inevitables of the human race, led the headlines in the women's world in 1962.

Use of the drug thalidomide was blamed for the birth of hundreds of deformed babies in West Germany, England and Canada. When doctors declared the drug the culprit, thousands of expectant women worried about health of their offspring.

One of a particular decided to do something about it. Mrs. Sherri Finkbine sought legal permission for an abortion in her native Arizona.

zona, when she learned she had taken the drug — bought overseas — during the early stage of pregnancy.

Denied permission in this country, she and her husband flew to Sweden where doctors performed the operation.

One woman stood firm against U.S. approval of the drug — Dr. Frances Oldham Kelsey of the Food and Drug Administration. Eventually her stubbornness paid off . . . she was applauded by Congress, officially honored by President Kennedy.

Death took two of the world's most famous women. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, intrepid former first lady, died at 78 after a sub-acute illness, diagnosed after her death as a rare type of tuberculosis. Marilyn Monroe, the blonde symbol of sensuality, died in her Los Angeles home of an overdose of barbiturates.

This was the year the flames of the Cuban crisis burned hottest. Navy wives and children were moved from the Guantanamo Naval Base. Women visitors to the White House let their purses be searched under increased security measures.

In Algeria, European women who had known no other home found their families uprooted, as Algeria proclaimed its independence. Ten thousand African women and children rioted against United Nations troops in Katanga.

U. S. women proved themselves excellent if unofficial ambassadors. Vice-President Lyndon Johnson's wife, Lady Bird, and one of the Johnson daughters accompanied the graying Texan on a tour of the Middle East.

The First Lady, Jacqueline Kennedy, took time out to visit India and Pakistan. And she and daughter Caroline vacationed in Ravello, Italy.

The President and Mrs. Kennedy began to build a new home in Virginia . . . and ignored their relatives' parties that sometimes wound their guests up in the nearest swimming pool.

The French style leaders pretty much left hemlines alone they remained at the kneecap. But designers in the United States and abroad wrapped women into a looser-fitting, natural silhouette. In Wimbledon, England, tennis officials put a halt to colorful panties worn by women contestants. "White only" became the rule for future tournaments.

Love, as usual, helped make the world go 'round. Princess Alexandra of Kent became engaged to Angus James Bruce Ogilvy, Juliet Prowse, the dancer-actress, was engaged to Frank Sinatra — for one month. Zsa Zsa Gabor wed husband number four, Herbert Hunter. Prince Juan Carlos of Spain married Princess Sophia of Greece.

And boxer Ingemar Johansson married his long-time sweetheart, Birgit Lundgren.

For some, love cooled. Elizabeth Taylor separated from Eddie Fisher, and cavorted through Rome nightclubs with her "Cleopatra" co-star, Richard Burton. Judy Garland and Sid Luft became ensnared in two-state divorce proceedings. And Pamela Mason ended her 22-year marriage to actor James Mason. Marriage ended also in 1962 for Lana Turner, Carol Burnett, Mrs. Francis Gary Powers, Dinah Shore and Rosemary Clooney.

Death came to former Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, who was 82; the Empress of Ethiopia, who was 71; Eddie Cantor's wife Ida; and Mrs. Florence Carpenter, mother of one of the astronauts.

These other feminine names made news in '62: Princess Grace of Monaco, who abandoned plans to return to Hollywood, then had to cut short a Paris holiday while her husband's tiny country feuded with France over taxes.

Mrs. John Glenn, Sr. was named World Mother of the Year. And in Crofton, England, a four foot tall, 70-pound woman proclaimed herself champion beer drinker. Mrs. Elsie Daines downed half a quart of the brew in nine seconds.

While a slam contract on the North-South cards is not an unreasonable undertaking in today's hand, we cannot subscribe to North's actions in the auction. When West overcalls South's one spade opening with two diamonds, a competitive raise to two spades provides an adequate description of North's values. His hand is worth only eight points in support in spades, and if partner cannot take further action on his own steam there need be no concern over having missed a game.
West led the king of diamonds and the ace was played from dummy. A trump finesse was taken next, and that was successful, complications set in when West showed out. It had been declarer's intention, if spades divided two-one, to draw trumps and ruff two hearts and one club in dummy, conceding only one club trick. When East was revealed to have three spades, however, South had to postpone the trump drawing process until he had finished his washing in the side suits.

The ace and king of hearts were cashed and a club discarded from the dummy. Next a heart was trumped with the three of spades as East followed suit with the queen of hearts. The trump finesse was successfully repeated, and a fourth heart was led. As a precaution, however, South discarded a second club from dummy in order to avert an overruff.

West was permitted to hold the trick with the nine of hearts, and he returned the king of clubs. Declarer won with the ace and ruffed a small club next. The closed hand was re-entered by trumping a diamond, so that South could ruff out his last club. He was down to nothing but spades and, when he returned to his hand, the ace of trumps felled East's king, and declarer claimed the slam

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is a bright, hard-working young man who is wildly ambitious. He is determined to wind up on top of the financial heap regardless of what it takes to get there.

Several months ago he went to work with a firm which offered him a fine salary and an opportunity to meet important people in his field.

It has been seven months now since we made the move and my husband is disappointed in the firm. He has had several misunderstandings with the executives and feels they have failed to make good their promises.

It embarrasses me when he speaks disparagingly about his colleagues even though what he says is true. I've tried to tell him that it's neither wise nor honorable. I may as well talk to the wall. Can you help?

—A YOUNG WIFE

DEAR WIFE: This is what Elbert Hubbard has to say on the subject. Clip it out for your husband. It may change his approach.

"On Loyalty: If you work for a man, in heaven's name speak well of him and stand by the institution he represents.

"If you must growl, condemn and eternally find fault, resign your position and when you are on the outside, damn to your heart's content. But so long as you are a part of the institution do not con-while. But here is a plausible explanation.

When a person is emotionally upset he can forget his own name. I'm lucky not to be completely cuckoo considering what I put up with from that lummo.

To begin with he is envious because I am a college graduate and he flunked out of Swarthmore in his sophomore year. Whenever I attend an alumni meeting he says I am reverting to my second childhood.

I've stuck by him through one raunchy affair after another. He has run the female gamut, from 16 to 60. The man simply loathes work. If he weren't working for his father he'd be on unemployment compensation.

I'm forgetful. So what? What I'd really like to forget is that I was stupid enough to tie up with this baboon. —ALSO RADCLIFFE

DEAR ALSO: Thanks for writing. You have my sympathy. Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Chicken Pox And Christmas

The Feyre quadruplets of Holyoke, who will be two years old in March, celebrated Christmas despite the fact that three of them had chicken pox. Their mother, Mrs. Raymond Feyre said they ran the house with the other six children in the family and

Germans Rebuild Old Bus And Crash Three Barriers On Way To Freedom

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP)—For six months Hans Weidner, a crippled war veteran, worked deep in Communist East Germany to armor and outfit an old bus for a run to the freedom of West Berlin.

Wednesday, he made it spectacularly, to the drumfire of the tommy guns of East German border guards.

Weidner led a party of eight refugees that crashed the bus through three Red barriers on the main road to West Berlin and emerged from the shooting unscathed.

Half a dozen bullets scarred the bus' cream-colored paint.

The headlights were shot away.

Weidner, who walks painfully with the aid of two crutches, brought along his wife and two children, a 15-year-old daughter and a son, 10.

With them were his driver, Juergen Wagner, 22, and Wagner's wife and two children, one 18 months old.

Planned Since Summer

Weidner had been planning the escape since midsummer in the little town of Neugersdorf, at the southeastern corner of East Germany.

"I had a garage and this one bus," he explained. "It was built in 1941. Anything newer than that goes to the state. I had to take the state in as a partner. They finally nationalized even part of the lot the garage and my house were built on."

The preparations were complicated and thorough. Weidner and Wagner worked together to obtain the steel plates, not an easy thing in shortage-ridden East Germany.

They had to fit them to the side of the bus and to make eye-slits in the plates to go over the windshield.

They also built steel guards to protect the double tires of the 10-ton, 40-seat bus. They attached a snow plow to clear the heavy rails they expected to find at the crossing-point.

They even painted signs reading "repair bus" to hang front and back, in case Red people's police started wondering what a bus from Neugersdorf was doing near Berlin—120 miles away.

Started Christmas Eve

Christmas Eve they loaded up with about three tons of personal belongings, added a ton of coal and potatoes as ballast and started.

They stopped from time to time—not too long in any one place—to fasten the steel plates. They had not dared to do this at home. Halfway to Berlin, they were halted by bitter weather.

Senator Byrd Leaves Hospital For Christmas

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., left a Baltimore hospital for several hours to have Christmas dinner at the home of a friend, his son reported Wednesday.

The son, State Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., said the senator returned to Union Memorial Hospital later in the day. The hospital, where Byrd has been under treatment since last week, reported his condition as satisfactory.

Hospital spokesmen and doctors had declined to disclose the nature of Byrd's ailment.

A member of the hospital staff is a friend who has been Byrd's doctor for the last 26 years. Byrd is 75.

"It was so cold the 13 gallons of antifreeze froze in the cooling system," Weidner said. "It was down to minus 24 centigrade (12 below zero Fahrenheit). There wasn't any going back."

He and Wagner put the wives and children into different wayside inns to avoid suspicion. Weidner made his way back to Neugersdorf to get some spare parts.

Time For Repairs

The party spent most of Christmas night working on the cooling system. Weidner showed traces of frostbite on his hands and face.

Early Wednesday morning the cooling system was in shape, and the bus started off again. Then a tire blew. That took more time for repair.

About 5:30 a.m. the bus approached the first East German control point. Wagner gave two friendly honks and flashed his headlights to make the guard think an ordinary West German truck was coming down the road, carrying freight to West Berlin.

Weidner, sitting next to him, flashed another light toward the guards with the idea of keeping them from recognizing the vehicle as a bus.

Meanest Vandal

WOODHOUSE, England (AP)—The Christmas season brought out the worst in someone in this little midland town. Vicar R. P. Rankin found the altar tipped over in his 14th century church.

Rankin found the altar tipped over in his 14th century church. Railings ripped loose, pages ripped from an ancient Bible, a Christmas tree knocked down and windows broken.

At the third and last barrier, part of the road was torn up and apparently Wagner didn't notice it. "I grabbed the steering wheel with both hands and kept us out of the hole," Weidner said, "while Wagner stepped on the gas and we went through."

Crashed Three Barriers

They drove up at 15 miles per hour, as East German regulations provide. Then Wagner gunned the engine and burst through.

It was a moment before the police saw what was happening, and began to shoot.

The headlights were out by the time the bus reached the second barrier, but Weidner flashed his auxiliary spotlight to blind the guards.

At the third and last barrier, part of the road was torn up and apparently Wagner didn't notice it.

"I grabbed the steering wheel with both hands and kept us out of the hole," Weidner said, "while Wagner stepped on the gas and we went through."

Brunswick And Frederick Bank Merger Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon announced Wednesday his approval of the merger of Peoples National Bank, Brunswick, Md., into Farmers and Mechanics-Citizens National Bank, Frederick, Md.

Saxon said that although the merger will confirm the strong position of Farmers and Mechanics in Frederick County, adequate competitive banking will remain in the area.

Brunswick, a railroad town 15 miles from Frederick, is now served by Peoples National and the Bank of Brunswick.

"While the bank of Brunswick will undoubtedly notice the presence of Farmers and Mechanics as a direct competitor," Saxon said, "the availability of broader services, the ability of a branch of a larger bank to weather a slow economic pace and the strengthening of Farmers and Mechanics will be in the public interest."

Saxon approved the merger, under which the Peoples National will be operated as a branch of Farmers and Mechanics, as of Thursday or later.

Santa Claus Village Contact Restored

FINIKE, Turkey (AP)—Turkey's Santa Claus village of Demre, isolated for nearly a week by southern coastal storms, suddenly restored contact with the outside world by sea and road as a result of clearing weather. Demre was known as Myra 1,600 years ago when Saint Nicholas was a rich bishop there.

Stock Market Won't Soon Forget 1962

By PETER T. EARLE

NEW YORK (UPI) — The past year will long be remembered as the second most infamous in stock market history.

The approximately $80 billion lost in the first half of the year and the $48 billion recovered between July and early December eclipsed even the dollar fluctuations of the 1929 crash and the great 1930 bear market recovery. But this was because the market today is worth many times as much.

The year began with the averages just under the all-time peaks established in December 1961.

Unaccountably, many thought, the market slipped sharply from January through March. Most analysts insisted it was only an overdue correction of the speculative excesses of late 1961 and confided that an even greater buying opportunity was at hand.

By mid-May, when the selling snowball reached glacial proportions and well after the administrative had checked an attempt by the steel industry to raise its price levels, the market letters became universally bearish. By that time it was all over except for the wild, two-day 24 million share climax of May 28-29.

False Boom

It became increasingly obvious during the avalanche that the 1962 business "boom" had proved no more than "high level economic stagnation" and "profitless prosperity."

Business profits dropped from the moderate level of late 1961 and fears grew, on the basis of administration statements, that the post-war inflationary period was over and bearish deflationary tendencies might soon assert themselves.

In early July the market turned higher soon after the president said that the nation needed broad personal and corporate tax cuts. It had staged roughly a 33 per cent recovery by late August with the market letters saying "the late summer rally may well be extended."

At that point the market dropped and was within 10 per cent of its May lows by late October although business was still on its "high plateau."

The tip sheets were chanting "we are witnessing either a serious test of the year's lows or a resumption of the bear market begun early this year"—and it was at just that time the prices skyrocketed.

The Cuban situation turned into potentially the most explosive crisis since World War II. The administration courageously stood its ground, the communists wilted and the market vaulted, not for just a day but for six frantic weeks before leveling off in early December.

Accumulate Cash

The factors behind the early winter rally were still present at year's end although they seem well discounted. In addition to relief from fear of nuclear war and a surge in national pride and confidence, there is a new bull market signal by the well-worn Dow Theory, the evidence of technical strength in the largest short interest position in stock exchange history, and the fact that most institutions have accumulated a large amount of cash for reinvestment.

Hopes for a tax cut in 1963 have been well fed and the refueling of bullish inflationary fears has come at a time when it is expected the federal deficit will be $7.8 billion during the current fiscal year. Also business indexes remain around their peaks and the latest earnings and dividends are substantially higher than in 1961.

Even assuming the tax cut gets through and earnings match hopes, the investor cannot assume that the bull and not the bear will dominate the 1963 stock market until he asks himself if the other causes of last year's market spill have been removed.

Searching Question

Have the differences between the administration and business and over prices, mergers and dealings in securities markets been overcome?

What will be the course of justice department suits against merger proposals?

Some question what will be the outcome of the Securities & Exchange Commission's long investigation of the marketplace.

When the study is completed early next year and recommendations are made, will subsequent legislation set up more stringent rules for securities dealings and build stronger government control over still another aspect of American business life?

These and many other questions will surely color 1963 stock market behavior. They make trend forecasting dangerous. Some analysts were all wet in 1962 and are refusing to get out on a limb again.

Predicts Earnings

ROANOKE, Va. — Stuart T. Saunders, President of the Norfolk & Western Railway predicted that the line's 1962 earnings would be "excellent." He said that 1963 "should be even better if favorable economic conditions prevail nationally." The rail executive based his optimism on increased freight handled by the line.

Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest American Greek letter college fraternity. It was founded at William and Mary College in 1776.

Area Seabees In Contest For National Honors

Naval Reserve Construction Battalion is a top contender for national honors this year, and a competitive factor among the more than 200 Seabee divisions is on-board strength, or membership.

It was in this category that Constructionman Richard E. Jones, of Somerset, sparked with his performance for the local division.

For his two-week period of active duty training this year, Jones launched a recruiting drive in his hometown area.

With the knowledge that recruiting isn't the easiest task to perform, his superiors with the local division set a quota of ten men for Jones, figuring that would probably be the maximum number he could persuade to join. Even ten was a pretty high target.

But Constructionman Jones was not to be restricted by quotas. At its last weekend drill, the Somerset Seabee brought in 17 young prospective Seabees, including a set of identical twins.

With a representative contingent from the Somerset area already in the Seabee unit, highway traffic from there to the monthly weekend drills will be greatly increased because of Jones' recruiting performance.

New Somerset area members are Larry Henry, Foster Klink, Ernest Benning, Jerry Fletcher, Harold Tinkey, and James Purbough, all of Rockwood, Carl Woolley, Rodney Trent, identical twins Larry and Garry Houston, Gary Stephens, Eugene Stahl, Barry Darr, Henry Meyers, R. T. Long, and Quentin Maust, Jr., and Frank R. Menser, all of Somerset.

Cub Scouts Have Party

The Christmas party of Cub Pack 20, sponsored by Mt. Royal School was held at the school.

Each Cub Scout brought a donation of food for a Christmas basket for a needy family. Eric Bruner conducted the flag ceremony along with Douglas Paulsen and Richard Weber. Christmas carols were sung.

Leonard Schwab, advancement chairman, announced the following advancements and awards: Randy McIntyre, Wolf; Douglas Largent, Bobcat; Terry Platt, Silver Arrow; Todd Schwab, three-year badge; and Jerry Porter, one-year badge.

Den No. 4 won the attendance award. Harry Gilbert, Cubmaster, announced a new monthly award, a hatchet. It will be awarded at each pack meeting and kept for one month. The best-behaved and most neatly dressed pack will win the award.

Games were played and Santa distributed gifts to the Cubs and their parents. The closing ceremony was conducted by Todd Schwab.

The next meeting will be a Freedom Festival on January 29 at 7:30 p. m. at the school.

Good Record On Highway Reported

Traffic-wise the Cumberland area enjoyed a safe Christmas, according to police units in the district, despite hazardous driving conditions.

Although a large number of minor accidents were reported due to slick highway conditions, only one mishap occurred in the Cumberland area.

West Virginia State Police at Romney investigated the accident yesterday on W. Va. Route 28, just north of Romney.

Police said a man, his wife and son were injured, but did not require hospitalization. Treated at Hampshire County Hospital in Romney for head lacerations were Johnnie J. Brown, 43; his wife, Alice, 34, and their son, John Edward Brown, 15, all of Fort Ashby.

Trooper J. L. Plybon of the Romney detachment said Brown was northbound on the highway when his vehicle struck the rear of a parked vehicle owned by Richard E. Whitacre of Wiley Ford. After striking the Whitacre car, Brown's auto crossed the center line and collided with a car being driven southbound by Sheldon K. Pennington, of Alexandria, Va.

Cumberland City Police investigated several "fender-benders" Christmas Eve and yesterday. However, no one was reported injured within the City limits during the two-day period.

Maryland State Police in LaVale, working both Allegany and Garrett counties, also reported a quiet two day period. Here again, a number of accidents were reported, but no one was injured.

Pennsylvania State Police at both Bedford and Everett reported Christmas "accident-free". Both details said highway conditions were bad yesterday, but reported "all clear" today.

The Sheriff's Office in Oakland reported only one minor mishap in the county. This crash occurred Monday night at Red House and involved one car. No one was injured and only minor property damage was reported.

Constable Post Is Being Sought

Marshall Logsdon, Slabtown Road, Mt. Savage, made application with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday for the post of constable-at-large.

No action was taken on the request.

The board also received a letter from J. E. Mullenax, president of the Western Maryland Central Labor Council, requesting that if a City-County Sewage Authority were named by the county commissioners that a representative of labor be named to the group.

The board took no action on the request because a committee is studying the sewage situation in the county at present and no decision is expected until after a report January 18 from an engineering consultant on the various programs underway.

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — William Conroy Jr., found that the key to his keep freer opens his desk.

Disposal Of Utility Poles Is Disputed

The question of the powers of the individual city commissioners was questioned at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council after a member of the audience asked what the city had realized from the disposal of utility poles that had been stored at the city warehouse.

C. Erich Roeder, 808 Frost Avenue, posed the question and was informed by Water and Light Commissioner G. Ray Light that the city made "nothing on the deal."

Commissioner Light said the poles were obsolete and had no marketable value. Several had been disposed of to a church and a historical group, and that the balance were offered to whoever could put them to use.

The poles, owned by the city, had been stored since their removal for modern replacements on Baltimore Street.

Roeder also inquired as to the tax load being carried by Cumberland residents in the City-County Water-Sewage study. He stated that city residents are being taxed to finance the study, while also paying county taxes for the same purpose.

Mayor Earl D. Chaney said he felt any tax load was justified as long as the work would eventually benefit the public, and pointed out that the city's share of financing was being done in a "help your neighbor" philosophy.

The mayor added that he felt many of the outlying areas that will benefit from the sewage study eventually will become part of Cumberland.

Other matters that were questioned at yesterday's meeting included the disposal of fluorine that had been stored at the city's water works when a previous council had voted for fluoridation.

Commissioner Light explained that the chemical was buried primarily because it was dangerous to persons who might have ventured into the old barn where it had been stored. The fluorine had eaten through glass containers in which it was stored, and even inhalation of the chemical offered a threat.

Tall Cedars Will Install

Algonquin Forest 140, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, will install 1963 officers Friday at 8 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club, according to Robert L. Horstman, retiring grand tall cedar.

New officers are William E. Miller, grand tall cedar; Robert L. Schubert, senior deputy grand tall cedar; Lionel Carder, junior deputy grand tall cedar; Robert K. Smith, treasurer; James McGee, scribe; Roy Yutzky, three-year trustee; John A. Purucker, two-year trustee, and Edward T. Evans, Jr., one-year trustee.

Refreshments will be served following installation, Horstman said.

Steinberger Named To Fill Planning Post

Dr. Rudolph Steinberger, Cresaptown, yesterday was appointed a town, today was appointed a member of the Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission.

He replaces Richard Winer, who was transferred to the Wilmington, Del., office of the Hercules Powder Company from Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Dr. Steinberger was nominated by Commissioner Robert Little Ebert and the board of commissioners unanimously named him to the job.

Commissioner Ebert stated that it is important that the growing suburban areas of the county be represented on the planning group and Steinberger has been a resident in Cresaptown since 1950.

Dr. Steinberger is a research chemist at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and is a member of the American Chemical Society and American Rocket Society.

Commissioner Ebert said it is important that the vacancy on the commission be filled as they meet tonight and will probably want to select a chairman to replace Winer.

Boating Permits Are Extended

Although most of the rivers are not fit places for boating this time of year in Western Maryland, the 1962 state boat licenses will be valid until January 31.

This is due to the fact that the staff of the Boating and Recreation Division of the Department of Tidewater Fisheries has been unable to process all applications for renewal of certificates.

In Maryland, all boats powered with engines of more than 7½ horsepower or sailboats 25 feet or more in length must re-register at this time.

Tawes Offers Support For Military Police Reserve

Gov. J. Millard Tawes has notified the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that he will do everything he can to have the Army Reserve unit, Company B, 336th Military Police unit retained in Lonaconing or at the Army Reserve headquarters here.

Russell H. McCain, executive assistant to the governor, wrote the letter on behalf of the governor and stated that Gov. Tawes will bring up the matter as part of the special committee of the National Governors' Conference on the proposed changes in Army Reserve units and National Guard groups by the Department of Defense.

The Department of Defense has listed Company B to be moved to Lewes, Del., where an entire new unit will be set up.

The county commissioners last week sent a resolution to Gov. Tawes, Sen. J. Glenn Beall, Sen-elect Daniel Brewster, Rep. Charles McC. Mathias and Rep. elect Carlton Sickles asking them to intercede with the federal agency to retain the MP unit in Lonaconing or Cumberland.

Animals Are Outdoing Man

Man looks down on the animals with some reason. He can fly faster than any bird, tunnel deeper than any mole. Master of fire and wielder of armies, able to speak and act cooperatively, he refuses to take the world as it comes. If what he wants doesn't exist, he creates it.

Man, in short, is quite a fellow. But a dog is physically mature at two and lives, barring accidents, to be 12. A cat is full grown at one and a half and lives to be 10. A horse stops growing at four and dies, on the average, at 25.

All these lesser creatures have a life expectancy at least six times their period of maturation. Man, the master of the universe, should be able to do better than the animals.

He does hardly half as well. He reaches full growth at 25 or thereabouts, so he ought to be good for 150 years. But if he survives past 75 he is considered a hardy specimen.

People have been heard to say that this is just as well: Life being what it is, man merely shows his intelligence by shuffling off the mortal coil early. But this is an asinine attitude. The human personality matures in the late thirties, the human intelligence in the late forties.

As more than half the population is younger, man lives in a society preponderantly immature, both emotionally and intellectually. Lengthening the life span would provide more opportunity to use "the hidden treasures of the later years."

Man has the knowledge now to lengthen his life span to a century. Shall man, who believes in life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, let the lesser animals outdo him in all three?

Praise For The U-2

Not so long ago, when Francis Gary Powers fell out of the sky over Soviet Russia with his U-2 plane, there was much wringing of hands over the supposed risk to world peace that was involved in staging high-altitude espionage flights. But where would the United States be without such reconnaissance? The role the U-2 played in revealing the build-up of Soviet missile strength in Cuba calls for national gratitude to the people who made the remarkable plane, and to the Eisenhower Administration for originally sanctioning its use.

The so-called "liberal" line on the Powers affair was that it irresponsibly shattered the chances for a summit meeting at Paris that might have succeeded in easing all the tensions of the Cold War. Luckily for everyone, that view was swallowed with a few tumblerfuls of salt.

Actually, the fall of the U-2 told Khrushchev nothing that he didn't know already; with modern detection equipment all big military powers have a pretty fair notion of what is going on in their own claimed "air space." Khrushchev, an adept at shedding crocodile tears and simulating a shoe-banging fit of anger any time it seems historically necessary, obviously broke up the summit conference because he knew the United States knew too much about the actual state of Soviet military preparedness. He was not in a position to bluff.

The truth was that the U-2, a glider plane that can cruise some 70,000 feet high in the air with remarkable telescopic camera equipment in its belly, had been bringing back information about Soviet missile emplacements and industrial complexes for four crucial years. Even installations behind the Urals in Siberia had been photographed. The "hards" were always critical of Eisenhower's willingness to accept Khrushchev socially; they were particularly provoked by the famous meeting at Camp David. But Khrushchev, knowing that the C.I.A. knew plenty about Russia, could not have been deluded about any "softness" in his Camp David host. Eisenhower, leading from the sure strength of knowledge, was simply preserving the amenities.

The four years' garner of aerial photographic intelligence about the state of the Soviets' missile preparedness had given at least relative firmness to our diplomacy. Without it, we might have been scared out of a dignified stand in Berlin; we might have pursued a craven policy in the Far East; we might have fallen for a summit conference that would have sent Khrushchev back to Moscow chortling at the Free World's gullibility. But none of these possible disasters ever happened. The U-2 was assuredly the prime reason.

A realist, President Kennedy saw no sense in discounting high-altitude reconnaissance where it was indicated. Nothing was said—but when the Red Chinese recently captured a U-2, and when the Russians protested the violation of their air space over Sakhalin Island, it was obvious that the United States had not deliberately chosen to put out its own eyes. Came the shipments of Soviet ballistic missiles to Cuba and the subsequent preparation of missile sites in the jungles, and our high-altitude watch paid off all over again.

This time the "softs" have not bewailed high-altitude spying. Even they must realize that the ability of the United States to keep posted on all the many machinations against it is in itself a cause of peace. U-2s over Cuba have elicited no hand-wringing in neutral nations; they respect the nation that can take care of itself.

The company that produced the U-2, the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation of California, is an impersonal capitalistic outfit insofar as it is known to the public. The designer of the U-2, Clarence "Kelly" Johnson, is famous only in his own circles. But when the October 14, U-2 planes returned from over Cuba with the pictures that revealed the preparation of launching sites for missiles that could have destroyed any city in the United States east of the Mississippi, the men responsible for the U-2 must have felt a glow in their hearts that is full compensation for their relative obscurity. Once again they had saved American foreign policy; once again they had lent firmness to our posture in the world when firmness was needed to keep the sum of things from unravelling.

Nassau Agreement Seen Setback For DeGaulle

PARIS

By Joseph Alsop

Beyond much doubt, the strongest influence on Prime Minister Macmillan's Nassau meeting with President Kennedy, was the Prime Minister's unhappy recollection of his earlier meeting at Rambouillet with Gen. de Gaulle.

It is too early to say, as yet, whether Rambouillet was quite the decisive and depressing turning point that it seems likely to prove. There is always the chance that Macmillan will take Britain into Europe on almost any terms, despite the great risks which this will involve because of the Prime Minister's deeply eroded political position at home.

Yet the French government both hoped, and is inclined to believe, that Rambouillet was the beginning of the end of the British attempt to join the European Common Market.

After a series of bad setbacks in Parliamentary by-elections, and with more than 50 Conservative seats partly dependent on farm voters, the Prime Minister mainly came to ask the French President for better terms for British farmers. De Gaulle's reply to Macmillan, it can be stated on undeniable authority, was a glacially polite negative.

De Gaulle did not speak to Macmillan as a particularly enthusiastic European. Indeed, he indicated that his interest in Europe had sharply declined, since Chancellor Adenauer's promise to retire from office next year had put a future term to the de Gaulle-Adenauer brother act. He merely said that better terms for British farmers ran counter to French national interest.

The plain truth is that President de Gaulle and most of those around him are no more eager to have the British join the European Common Market than they were last year. British entry is now characterized as a "dilution" of the European Community, whereas the usual Gaullist formula last year was that British entry would cause "Europe to lose its personality." That is the only difference.

As last year, the French recognize that they cannot keep Britain out if the British choose to pay the full subscription fee of the European club. But with good reason, the French believe they can prevent the subscription fee from being preferentially reduced. This they still intend to do; and this intention was strongly reaffirmed at Rambouillet.

The outcome at Rambouillet might well have been quite different if Prime Minister Macmillan had been willing to sacrifice the Anglo-American partnership by offering nuclear partnership between Britain and France.

Such an offer, of course, would have run directly counter to British nuclear commitments to the U. S. It would have been welcomed by Gen. de Gaulle, precisely because it would have involved a brusque British change of political partners.

But the British Prime Minister chose not to conciliate the French President by tearing up his strong commitments under the Anglo-American nuclear exchange agreement. The French half expected Macmillan to do just this, after the "provocation" of the Skybolt affair. Instead, Macmillan put the American partnership first.

Such is the background against which the Nassau meeting must be seen. At Nassau, the President

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CONGRESS PREPARES—To the casual observer, change is the order of the day in Washington. But in congressional matters at least, it is more appropriate to apply the old saw that the more things change, the more they remain the same.

This is particularly true of relations between the House and Senate Appropriations Committees, which spent most of the last session in bitter feuding and are prepared to renew the cold war as soon as the new Congress convenes in January.

The controversy concerns prestige of the two bodies. Members of the House committee want half of the joint sessions of the two bodies to be conducted on their side of the Capitol, instead of holding all meetings on the Senate side as precedent dictates.

The Senate group opposes this, and in a needling response offers to accept the change if the House group will permit the Senate group to initiate half of the yearly appropriations bills, a prerogative that has been jealously guarded by the House.

This seemingly juvenile difference was the cause of months of delay last year in government departments and agencies obtaining the money necessary to continue their operations. The two committees didn't meet for months to resolve differences in Senate and House versions of appropriations bills because they couldn't agree where to meet.

It took a lot of pressure from high places, including the White House, to break the logjam. In some instances the operations of government were seriously affected before a truce was obtained.

But comes the new Congress, the fight will be renewed all over again, and most likely with increased vigor. The chairmen of the two committees, Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri and Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona, are among the oldest, most respected, and incidentally, most stubborn members of Congress.

Things To Do If You Feel A Cold Coming On

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There are no foods, vitamins, medicines, plasters, or electronic devices that will prevent or cure a cold. On the other hand, the chance of developing a respiratory infection can be reduced by keeping the body at disease-fighting strength. Sleep is important in this respect and so is a well balanced diet, an adequate fluid intake, and ample exercise.

Try to avoid close contact with others who have colds. This is stressed because some microorganisms, including viruses, are strong enough to overcome our natural resistance. Sore throats and nasal colds also are passed along with contaminated fingers.

Wash the hands frequently during the day, especially before eating.

Certain situations and conditions tend to make us more susceptible; it is here that we must consider sitting in a draft, becoming chilled or overheated, and overindulgence in spirituous drink. The membranes in the nose and throat change to the extent that there is lowering of local resistance to existing micro-organisms.

Many parents acquire their colds from the children who are more susceptible and have more opportunities to catch these infections. Teach the youngster to use his own glass, towel, dishes, and utensils. Parents ought to set the example, particularly when disorders of the nose and throat are rife. Kissing on the mouth should be discouraged.

What is the best thing to do when a person feels a cold coming on? Not every sneeze or scratchy sensation in the throat develops into a full-blown respiratory infection. But there is no need to take a chance.

A hot bath and a glass of hot lemonade help some but a good night's sleep is likely to do more. There are those who swear by the use of one or two sulfonamide or antihistamine tablets; others gargle with saline, whiskey, or a favorite mouth wash.

PURINES AND CHOLESTEROL. E. M. writes: Should high cholesterol foods be avoided in quots?

REPLY. Yes, in that many meats (including organ meats) are high in both cholesterol and purines. In addition, fat tends to raise the

Not Since WW II Has Time Been So Ripe To Negotiate For Peace

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It seems fashionable of late to do a lot of talking about peace-on-earth-goodwill-to-men around Christmas time and then forget about it one day after Christmas.

However, I would like to reverse that fashion by pointing out that at no time since the United States and the Soviet Union started bickering with each other after World War II has the time been so ripe for peace.

President Kennedy, I suspect, will not agree with this. He made it clear in his recent lucid and effective report to the nation that he wanted to let slide the matter of negotiating with the Soviet. But peace is not static. It will not stand still. It either goes forward or deteriorates. In many respects it is like war. In war, you have to ride the crest of a winning streak through to victory; and you have to do the same thing with peace.

President Kennedy and the United States have been winning the peace of late, and that's why it's important to keep riding the crest—not sit on the sidelines and wait.

Here, specifically, are the reasons why I think so:

REASON NO. 1—When you negotiate for peace, you should negotiate from strength. The President is strong now. He has just won a remarkable victory in Cuba, won it by a combination of strength, wisdom, and tact. He is in exactly the reverse of his position when he sat down to negotiate with Khrushchev in Vienna. Then, he had suffered a serious defeat in the Bay of Pigs operation, was caught red-handed in deception; and the world spotlight was on him as a young, green, and nervous President. He had missed the crest of negotiating-strength by not taking advantage of Khrushchev's goodwill at the time of his inauguration, as advised to by Adlai Stevenson, Averell Harriman, and Bill Fulbright. And Khrushchev, by the time he met Kennedy at Vienna, was sore at having had his earlier overtures snubbed.

Conciliatory Khrushchev

REASON NO. 2—Khrushchev is now in a conciliatory mood once again. This time he, not Kennedy, has been caught red-handed in deception.

He also faces the most serious split the Communist world has ever endured, with his No. 1 ally, Red China, to all intents and purposes dissolving the alliance by calling him an imperialist and a Munich appeaser over Cuba. Nothing has been more bitter and more significant than the present power struggle between the two most powerful nations inside the Communist world.

What Khrushchev thinks of this struggle was succinctly and significantly expressed in one sentence by him to Prime Minister Nehru of India the last time they met: "Our short-term problems are with the United States, our long-term problems with China." Every statement, every move Khrushchev has made of late, especially his amazing withdrawal of missiles from Cuba, points to the fact that he wants to iron out his short-term problems with the United States and concentrate on his long-term problems with China.

Khrushchev And Compromise

Speaking Dec. 12 to the Supreme Soviet, not to the outside world, he pointed to our November election where every John Birch Congressional candidate was defeated, and said: "At the election, the American people ditched several of their most aggressive political leaders... we are not the ones to mourn the failure of such gentlemen who hate peace."

"It is imperative," he also said, "to show more sense, a greater desire to remove old rubbish which creates friction and produces tension between states."

To remove that rubbish, Khrushchev proposed: "In the interests of preserving peace, we are now ready to agree to sound political compromises."

This might have been taken as mere oratory, were it not for important suggestions of compromise made by other top Communists, ranging from Walter Ulbricht of East Germany to Premier Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland.

These pertain chiefly to the most dangerous roadblock in the path of peace—Berlin—and will be detailed in an early column.

Cholly Knickerbocker and Trujillo

The Kennedy family faces a question of personal loyalty in the case of the brother of Oleg Cassini, Jackie Kennedy's dress designer. Charming Igor Cassini, the famed Cholly Knickerbocker New York Society columnist, did not register as a foreign agent at a time when he was taking trips to the Dominican Republic and allegedly doing public relations work for dictator Trujillo.

He and brother Oleg have operated two public relations firms—Marshall and Company and Marshall International—which are registered as doing business with Mexico and Brazil, but not with the Dominican Republic. Igor Cassini owns the majority of stock in these two companies, and dress designer Oleg, a frequent guest at White House dinners, is a director.

The Justice Department's preliminary survey indicates that a grand jury should be called to review the case of Igor, and Attorney General Bob Kennedy is going ahead with it, even though friends may be involved.

Merry-Go-Round

David K. E. Bruce, Ambassador to London and long-time diplomat, reported to friends from Nassau that he has never seen more brilliant diplomacy than that of John F. Kennedy in negotiating with Prime Minister Macmillan.

Col. Bob Jones, the Washington stock broker, and other Americans owning houses at the Lyford Cay Club in the Bahamas, had them requisitioned by the British government for the huge staffs of the Kennedy-Macmillan parties. However, they got paid—rather handsomely... Macmillan confided to Kennedy that he could not possibly accept De Gaulle's terms for British entry into the common market without risking his own political future. What the French want is severance of London's economic ties with the Commonwealth. Mac said however, that his own re-election was less important than building up the unity of Western Europe.

Being broke at age 52 isn't easy to take. He is a big broad man with a deep chest and a tough-looking Irish puss which can break into planes of laughter or battle with equal ease. But whatever happened to all those friends? He numbered two on his pudgy fingers. Two who will drop in to say hello; how are you feeling, Jack; but they are new friends.

"Evvy," he says. She is behind him, putting dinner plates on the dining room table, setting the knives and forks. The name comes through lips which once whispered it with devotion. Now it grunts through a throat almost closed across the top and it whistles through a hole in the bottom.

She stops her work for a moment. She is still pretty; the blonde sweet femininity which first attracted Jack Mehler to Evelyn Reinhardt many years ago is present. If it has faded a trifle, his eyes have dimmed and he doesn't see it. They still live in the same yellow house at 177 Oakdene Ave., Teaneck, N. J. It too has faded, but all the joys, all the misery, all the triumphs and all the heartaches occurred right here.

"Help me with the table," she says. She knows when he is thinking wrong. She gives him something to do and it is ironic because Mehler is a bear type of man and can probably break dishes by the dozen while trying to set them down gently. "Maybe they stay away," the voice grunts, "because they feel sorry for me. Well, the hell with that. I'm going to make it. I'm going to beat this rap."

Evvy smiles the rubs both palms down the apron. "The forks," she says, "go on the left side." She was young and naive when was it? — Yesterday? — Last week? — A few months ago? Where did youth go? A lady goes along, taking care of a husband and an ever-growing family, and suddenly youth and hope and ambition lie on the road behind.

The only time she was scared, really scared, was when Jack went off to war. He came back a lieutenant. He fought in the Ardennes when von Rundstedt made the last push at Christmas 1944. That was the time the Germans came through the forest snow in white capes, and Mehler's platoon mowed them down with machine gun fire, ripping up the flaky snow in little puffs.

That was the time when someone equipped the American outfit on the left with snow capes, and forgot to tell the others in the line. The Americans were mowed down in the forest by Americans. They screamed, and shouted American words, but everyone knew the Germans were clever at that.

Mehler came home in silence. He didn't like to talk war. He took up his law practice, and hoarded friends instead of money. At the Brass Rail, he could debate the merits of the Yanks versus the Giants all night. He was a real sport. He had real friends. He could pick up a phone and call the governor.

In October 1961, he had a sore throat. A moth later, a biopsy was done. That was it. Finis. End of movie. The lonesome battle began right there. At the Veterans Administration Hospital in Kingsbridge, the doctors told him it was inoperable. By May 1962, the top of the throat was almost shut. At 6 a.m. a tracheotomy was performed.

They put a hole in his throat and covered it with a loose napkin. They tried deep x-rays. They tried pills. Chemo-therapy, it is called. It didn't work.

They sent him home. "Don't feel sorry for me," he told them. "I'll make it. I got a bunch of kids, you know." So Jack Mehler is home for the holidays. He wanders around the house looking for something to do. A man can't stand forever looking through a wreath at children out front.

Forks on the left side. He walked around the table, saying "Left, left, left" as he placed them. Jack did a good job. Evvy went back to the kitchen. She had work to do. This was going to be a Christmas—a real Christmas. Jack was back at the window. He saw a delivery boy. His face brightened and he hurried out on the porch. He took the package and grunted: "How are things, son?" The kid looked up "Merry Christmas," he said. Mehler grinned and held his hand over the throat napkin. "Say, son" he said. The boy was busy. He was going. "Yes," Jack said. "Merry Christmas. And thanks..."

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Another choice bit from the Marx Brothers repertoire involved a secretary who announced, "A man named Jennings has been waiting to see you for hours and he is waxing wroth." Groucho's reply to this was, "Tell Roth to wax Jennings for a change."

When Chico entered the scene, Groucho commented, "Hey, you look a lot like a fellow named Raveli." "I am Raveli," maintained Chico. "Aha," chortled Groucho, "that accounts for the resemblance."

Here are eleven basic rules that story tellers should remember before essaying a "life-of-the-party" role:

1. Don't make a story too long.
2. Don't forget your point in the middle of the story.
3. Don't laugh too much yourself.
4. Don't lay hands on your audience.
5. Don't tell your story more than once to the same audience.
6. Don't divulge the point of the story before you begin.

7. Don't insist on telling a story after your victim informs you he has already heard it.

8. Don't oversell your story in advance.

9. Don't tell your stories at the wrong place.

10. Don't tell your stories at the wrong time.

11. Don't always "know another version."

Week's Food Economies

The usual New Year's entertaining will be taking place this week-end. Plan now for the types of food you will need for the occasion. Markets are displaying a generous amount of food for your selection, says Virginia L. McLuckie, food economist, Baltimore Office of the University of Maryland Department of Markets.

There are many good buys in the stores. Look them over as they will fit into your entertaining plans. Buffet meals have become popular for easy entertaining. The holiday buffet may be as simple or as elaborate as you please. Remember, a buffet is for four or more persons and it is fun at home for the holiday.

The market offers a good supply of cured ham that fits well into plans for a family meal or entertaining friends. The choice of a fully cooked ham means only heating through and glazing, which is simple and easy to do. If you select a "cook-before-eating" ham, allow 20 to 30 minutes per pound for roasting or until a meat thermometer registers 160°F. Glaze the last half-hour of roasting.

Roasted fresh pork is another popular meat for the holiday. Pork loin roasts or a fresh shoulder are suggested cuts.

Beef, the most popular meat of all, will provide excellent table fare. If you really want to splurge, a prime rib roast will provide elegance. Many of the less tender cuts that require moist heat cooking can be highly recommended.

Poultry, particularly the broiler fryer chickens, have been one of the best buys. Grade A eggs are recommended for quality.

There is a plentiful supply of dairy products and milk for use in meals. The cheese in so many attractive forms is unequaled for dips, spreads and appetizers.

No meal is complete without the addition of colorful vegetables and fruits. Winter vegetables are the best buys in such items as white and sweet potatoes, onions, carrots and other winter roots. Quality is good on the tender vegetables from Arizona and California. Florida produce is showing some freeze damage. The best fruit buys are to be found in apples, bananas, and cranberries. Supplies of frozen and canned vegetables and fruits are plentiful.

Medicine Made Important Advances During 1962

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Doctors extracted a small, slippery thing from the alimentary canal of a cancer patient at Baylor University Medical Center.

The virus—small enough to slip through porcelain—figured in "significant" experimental work in the war against cancer, the American Cancer Society reported in citing gains made in 1962.

Scientists at the Houston, Tex., laboratory infected newborn hamsters with the virus. A high proportion of the laboratory animals developed cancer.

The society said the work has been duplicated in another lab, spurring cancer sleuths who lean to the theory that viruses might be the culprits in many malignancies.

In the war of man versus disease, so went the battle in 1962, on fronts when science tackled the unknown in cancer, heart ailments, mental illness, obesity, the common cold—and all else that strips a human in good health.

The evidence supporting the virus-theory in cancer lends hope that one day there will be a vaccine against cancer—just as there is against other virus-caused diseases. Polio, for example.

The medical report from 1962 goes like this:

Cancer: The best evidence of progress is that 1.2 million Americans have been cured. The big hunt for a drug or drugs to tame cancer hasn't paid off. But some drugs lengthen the survival span of some cancer patients—especially when the drugs are used in combination with the conventional treatment of radiation and surgery. Progress in '63 is expected in the virus theory arena and in the search for simple diagnostic tests to tattle on the presence of cancer before it can be detected by conventional means.

Heart: The American Heart Association said advances against heart diseases, accounting for more than half the deaths in the United States each year, included dramatic reduction of mortality rates in open heart surgery for blue babies.

Mental health: The National Association for Mental Health said one of the biggest gains during 1962 stemmed from evidence that some enzyme disturbance appears to be related to disruption of systems in the body enabling a person to develop energy to take action in situations of stress. Harry Milt, information director for the association, said the additional evidence points to the likelihood that some persons who become mentally ill have some impairment of equipment to handle stress.

In the area of basic research, the American Medical Association reported that what's to be heralded concerns efforts to breakdown the genetic code.

The code, intertwined in a thread-like molecule of deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA) dictates all growth and life functions from the nucleus of every living cell.

Scientific detectives figure that if this molecule is out of sorts it may create a chemical imbalance in the body, leading to weaknesses. If an individual's code could be studied, then discovery of such imbalances might be possible and corrections made.

In one area, science still hadn't come up with a cure. The common cold remained something to suffer through. One doctor suggested treating it the old-fashioned way—with contempt!

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 211

Total battle deaths in the Continental Army and Navy during the War of Independence, 1775-1783, were figured as 4,435; the aggregate wounded, non-fatal, were estimated at 6,200. Union Army casualties had already exceeded those figures before 7,000 fell during John Pop's inept campaign in Virginia, Aug. 23-30, 1862.

Same day, Aug. 30, as the Battle of Second Bull Run, where 800 Federal troops were killed, 4,000 wounded and 3,000 missing, there was an engagement at Richmond, Ky., with Federal casualties of 200 dead, 700 wounded, 4,000 missing (in contrast to 750 total Rebel casualties).

Two days later, at Chantilly, Va., Union artillery [see below] and infantry lost 1,300 men as 800 Confederates fell. Maj. Gen. Phil Kearny was among the Federal dead. Losses were comparatively small the next 10 days, while Lee struck into Maryland and McClellan sought to "cut the enemy in two and beat him in detail." Then, Sept. 12-15, at Harper's Ferry, to which Lee had sent Stonewall Jackson, 200 Union soldiers were killed and wounded, over 11,000 captured and missing. Meanwhile, at South Mountain, Md., the Union casualties were 443 killed, 1,806 wounded. Simultaneously, the 14th, at Mumfordsville, Ky., both Union and Rebel armies suffered other heavy losses.

Yet the bloodiest battle in that month was still to be fought at Antietam, Md.

Auto Industry Had Banner Year In 1962, May Do Even Better

By ROBERT IRVIN

UPI Automotive Editor
DETROIT (UPI) — The auto industry had a banner year in 1962. Because of record demand for the new 1963 models, it looks like production and sales this year were second only to the record year of 1955.

Factory sales and assemblies will likely total around 7 million cars, compared with the high of 7.9 million in 1955. Registrations, the number of cars delivered to customers, may run about 6.8 million, against the 7.2 million in 1955.

Buyers made a shambles out of industry sales records when the 1963 cars were introduced about Oct. 1. More cars—726,000—were sold in October than ever before in auto history.

Chevrolet led the way throughout 1962. It became the first auto firm to sell more than 2 million cars in one year—reaching that mark Dec. 6. It routed arch-rival Ford in their traditional battle for sales leadership. Ford, running 400,000 sales behind Chevy at mid-year, tried to recoup by appealing more to the young buyers. The firm entered racing in a big way as Board Chairman Henry Ford II abandoned the industry's anti-racing resolution.

The new cars shown in the fall by Ford and the other firms had more horsepower than ever before. More cars came equipped with bucket seats and four-speed floor-mounted transmissions. The compact Falcon, Comet and Valiant cars had convertible models.

Most 1963 models were basically a face-lift of 1962 versions. Chrysler had the biggest overall styling changes. It apparently helped because the firm's disappointing 9 per cent share of the market climbed to nearly 12 per cent with the new models.

The only truly new models in the industry were the Buick Riviera (General Motors' answer to the Ford Thunderbird), the Corvette Sting Ray (Chevy's sports car which is so popular there's now a four-month waiting list), and the Avanti a Studebaker "personal car" like the T-Bird). In addition, Willys—the "Jeep" maker—came out with a station wagon.

The industry generally held the line on prices. A few cars went up in cost. Some optional equipment was a factor in the higher price. A few cars like Chrysler lowered prices.

The industry offered some new engineering features on select models. Depending on the car, you now can get a transistorized ignition system, disc brakes, supercharged engine, tilting steering wheel or 100,000-mile lubrication system.

Chrysler started a trend no longer warranties, offering a five-year, 50,000-mile guarantee on major power components like engine and rear axle. Other firms countered by boosting their blanket 12-months, 12,000-mile guaran-

Sooners' Bowl Hopes Shaken

Quarterback III
With Influenza

MIAMI (UPI)—Oklahoma's Orange Bowl hopes were shaken slightly Wednesday when spark-plug quarterback Monte Deere was confined to bed with what coach Bud Wilkinson described as "a very bad case of flu."

Rival Alabama, already rated a five-point favorite, meanwhile arrived by plane about 12:30 p.m. EST, and immediately held an afternoon workout in 80-degree heat. Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant had his personnel troubles, too, with left tackle Butch Henry a doubtful starter because of a knee injury.

Wilkinson was extremely worried about the condition of Deere, the senior quarterback who picked up a sophomore team regarded as one year away and led them to an 8-2 season, winning their last seven in a row.

"It was awfully cold and wet when we left Norman," said Wilkinson. "Deere wasn't feeling well and now he feels worse."

But team physician Dr. Mike Willard soothed some of the Oklahoma fears later in the day with a report that Deere was "much improved" and would try to be on the practice field Thursday morning.

Complicating Wilkinson's task as he ordered twice-a-day drills, was the fact that the squad had not worked out since Dec. 19.

"They're naturally a bit slower," he observed at the morning drill, devoted principally to whacking the blocking dummies. "Their timing is off but their attitude is good."

Bryant announced that Alabama would practice only one each day and that he planned very little contact work.

Mariner Report Indicates Venus May Have Longer Days, Nights Than Earth

By JOHN BARBOUR

Associated Press Science Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — First reports back from Mariner II's historic fly-by-Venus indicate that the cloud-shrouded planet may have longer days and nights than her sister planet, Earth.

Scientists reported Wednesday on the only data analyzed so far from the tape recorded reports made Dec. 14 when Mariner rushed by within 21,600 miles of Venus.

That data indicates that Venus has little or no magnetic field. This could be because of slow rotation. Earth turns on its axis every 24 hours, giving us our 24-hour day. But Venus—about the same size as Earth—may take considerably longer.

"The observations thus far suggest that planets and satellites that rotate much less rapidly than Earth have small magnetic fields," the report said.

The weaker magnetic field also may indicate that Venus has no radiation belts, nor any southern or northern lights such as those seen on Earth.

Twelve days after its flirtation with Venus, Mariner is still making measurements on the climate of space and reporting that data back to Earth as the bug-shaped space probe continues on into an orbit around the sun.

The report on Mariner's 180-million mile journey to Venus was made by P. J. Coleman of the University of California at Los Angeles, Prof. Leverett Davis Jr. of the California Institute of Technology, Dr. Edward J. Smith of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, and Dr. C. P. Sennett of the Ames Research Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. It was given at the American Association for the Advancement of Science conference

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — It is seldom that a famous author is given the brush by an entire city, but Irving Wallace created such a negative reaction from the Swedish government, that it has become a cause celebre among hotel owners in Stockholm, not they will put him up if he comes there on a visit while MGM is filming his best selling novel "The Prize."

Wallace has plans completed for a trip with his family to Europe, but although he has twice before visited Sweden without any problems, travel agencies here trying to book him into a hotel, can't get him accommodations. Wallace's book has not been published in Sweden, and the newspapers have steadily attacked it because of the rough handling the writer gave to a set of fictional Nobel Prize winners.

Reports from Dick Powell's bedside are that he is home and feeling somewhat better. He and June have moved into an apartment on Wilshire Blvd., and he sits up part of the day. But when the pain comes, he has to lie down.

There have been many prayers said for Richard.

It's hard for me to realize he is as sick as reported, because he came over to my house to see me when he heard I wasn't feeling well, and brought David Niven with him. Dick was so gay and happy, and said he felt he was getting better.

Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton don't know it yet but that $15,000 apiece they sank into "The Caretaker" (along with five other stars) may be tied up in a legal hassle.

It so happens that United Artists had Hall Bartlett's prison picture starring Joan Crawford, Bob Stack and Polly Bergen which is titled "The Caretakers" coming up for release and this company is staking a "prior right" to the similar title.

The argument is that a great deal of money has been spent in exploiting "The Caretakers," it is ready to be shown—and Liz and Burton's production venture "The Caretaker" won't have a camera turned on it for weeks. So there's time to put a different title on it.

It's no secret from Dick Chamberlain that the "Dr. Kildare" TV series was originally offered to Jim Franciscus who had to turn it down because of a previous TV offer. Now Jim has signed to make a guest star appearance on a "Kildare" segment with Dick, but all is not lost for young Franciscus.

MGM is launching him in still another series, this one called "Dr. Novak"—which isn't based on medical men. Despite the misleading title it is about a high school teacher and his problems with unruly teenage pupils.

Year Spectacular

PITTSBURGH—President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers hailed 1962 as a "rather spectacular year for the union" but declined comment on whether the USW will ask for a wage increase in 1963. McDonald said the so-called Kaiser plan, the extended employment plan which is scheduled to go into effect in the can industry this year, and the contract in the aluminum industry as the high point in the union's success this year.

Makes Loan

SYOSSET, N.Y. (UPI) — Lafayette Radio Electronics Corp., announced Wednesday it has borrowed $3 million from the Prudential Insurance Co. at 5.75 per cent, the note to fall due in 1975. The company said the proceeds will be used to retire existing bank loans and provide extra working capital. Lafayette sells electronic and radio kits by mail order and through its chain of wholly-owned retail stores.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 210 "The present seems to be the most propitious time . . . to enter Maryland." So wrote the commander of the Army of Northern Virginia, Robert E. Lee, to President Jefferson Davis after the Confederate victory over John Pope's Union forces in the Second Battle of Bull Run. Regardless of the risks involved in invading the North, Lee advised, "We cannot afford to be idle."

Aggressive movements that would "harass, if not destroy, the enemy" would divert further Union movements away from Richmond. It could also provide his men with much needed supplies from a region that had thus far escaped the ravaging of foragers.

Lee moved his army across the Potomac, by ferry, bridge and wading, the first week of September and occupied Frederick. The next week could have been a propitious time for destroying him, if only the Union high command had been more sagacious. It was presented with a copy of Lee's instructions to his division commanders. This, dated Sept. 9, 1862, somehow got out of the possession of Gen. D. H. Hill into the hands of a Union soldier and reached McClellan.

McClellan, restored to full command of the Union forces in the East after John Pope's failure at Bull Run, drew a new plan based on the intercepted order. "My general idea is to cut the enemy in two and beat him in detail," he wrote Sept. 13. But he miscalculated the strength of Lee's invading army and was mistaken in the sizes of the components against which he dispersed his own forces.

Lee continued an advance that spread alarm in both Maryland and Pennsylvania until after the two main bodies of troops met head-on at Sharpsburg, also called Antietam. But Lee was neither cut in two nor beat in detail. (To be continued.)

No Sharp Upturn

NEW YORK—Chairman Arthur B. Homer of Bethlehem Steel Corp. said there is no immediate prospect of a "substantial" upturn in steel business, but that the nation's second largest producer has "a great deal of confidence in the long range future."

He said there may be some "hedge buying" of steel in the first quarter of 1963 against a possible mid-summer strike, but that this would be at the expense of production during a later period.

Keyser Scout Troop Plans Inspection

Charter Review Also Scheduled

KEYSER — Scoutmaster James York of Boy Scout Troop 27, sponsored by the Keyser Rotary Club, will hold a uniform inspection and charter review at 7 p. m. today at the Presbyterian Church fellowship hall. The meeting was originally announced for the Scout Cabin at Overton Place.

Fred Anderson, Tri-Valley District O and E Chairman, assisted by Clyde Gardner, institutional representative, David Nuzum and Harry Fisher, will examine all uniforms and insignia. Boys of the unit and their parents will be advised about meaning and purpose of numerals, patches, and honor awards.

Immediately after the inspection, registration will be held for new boys who have been meeting with the troop. A charter review is scheduled and forms will be completed to be submitted to Potomac Council Boy Scouts, Cumberland, for the rechartering of the troop for 1963. Troop 27 is one of the oldest units of the council that serves over 2,000 boys. Boy Scouts receive financial support through CUF.

Parents of Boy Scouts are urged to be present. Tri-Valley District commissioners have been invited to participate as consultants.

Garrett Co. Board Clerk Reappointed

OAKLAND—The Garrett County Commissioners reappointed Mrs. Virginia Fizer to serve as clerk to the board, a position she had held for several years.

The board also named H. D. Swartzentruber as vice president. Earl Opel was chosen as representative to the Garrett County Welfare Board. Allen S. Paugh had previously been named president of the board and Lewis R. Jones, attorney, and Paul DeWitt as county roads supervisor.

Three persons employed in the assessment office were also reappointed: Kenneth Ridder as map worker, Mrs. June Harvey, clerk and Miss Janet Paugh, stenographer.

The resignation of Mrs. Marjorie Broadwater, stenographer, was accepted. She has been in the commissioners' office since May when Mrs. Darlene Schlossnagle Lane moved from the area. No successor has been named.

The voting on Mrs. Fizer as clerk was not a unanimous one. Swartzentruber said he was of the opinion the clerk should be a man. He added that he found no fault with Mrs. Fizer's work but asked that the vote be taken, and that he be registered on the minutes as being opposed.

No action was taken on any other appointments.

The Liberty Trust Company, Grantsville, and First National Bank in Oakland were designated as depositories for Joseph H. Welch, treasurer. The Garrett County Roads Department uses Garrett National Bank.

It was also announced that liquor dispensaries in Grantsville and Oakland will be closed January 3 for inventory purposes.

Mrs. Fizer said the board discussed problems of the county airport and budgets that have been submitted by various departments.

There was a delegation before the board from the Garrett County-Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council seeking an appropriation of $5,000. Last year the organization received $3,000.

Video Canvass Data Released

FROSTBURG — An official canvass for conscientious television cable prospects in Frostburg has been completed and the response to date covers less than 50 families, according to Benjamin F. Huntsman, spokesman for Frostburg T-V, Inc.

Huntsman said that while the proposed cable system survey was being made the company went ahead with its original plans to put the fourth channel on UHF.

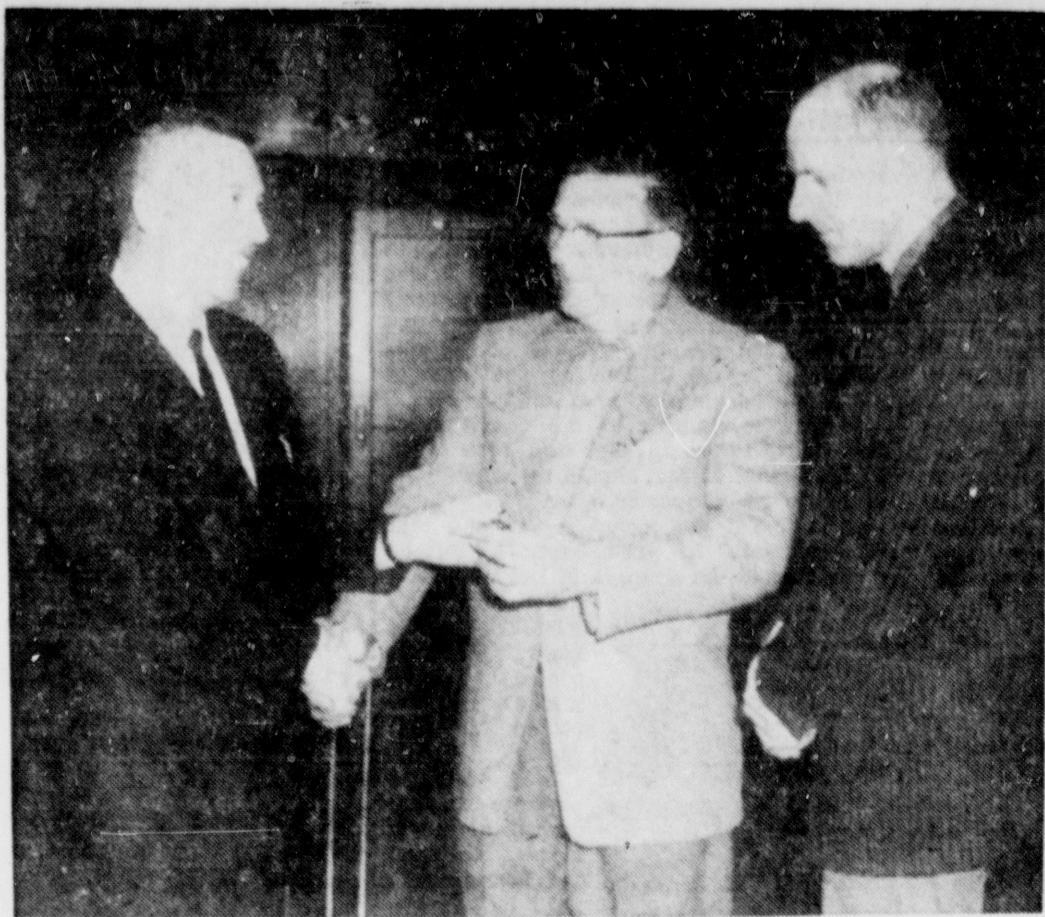

The Federal Communications Commission has granted a request for the re-broadcasting of Channel 6, Johnstown, on UHF Channel 82. It is the plan, Huntsman said, of the organization to have this station on the air about January 15, weather permitting.

Engineers have stated that signals can be placed into shaded areas by using line boosters installed by the corporation. The company points out that continued support by users of UHF will make the project successful with a minimum of expense to all concerned.

Yule Baskets Given By VFW

OLDTOWN — Members of Clifford B. Sisler Post 9451, Veterans of Foreign Wars, delivered Christmas baskets to local sick residents and shut-ins.

Many deserving families also were given baskets which were delivered by Mrs. Rose Stark and Nook Schaidt.

Moose Member Honored

William H. Wamsley, center, is shown accepting a diamond anniversary ring from John Staggers, governor of Keyser Lodge 662, Loyal Order of Moose, after the former enrolled 12 new members for the lodge since September 1. The presentation was made at the regular lodge meeting recently. Looking on is Wamsley's brother-in-law, Hubert S. Hartman, Jr., a trustee of the Keyser lodge. Wamsley is a member of the 50-Division of the 25 Club and is the only member of the Keyser lodge to receive the honor. The award commemorates the 75th anniversary of the Loyal Order of Moose and the 50th anniversary of Mooseheart.

Top W. Va. Sports Stories Of 1962 Are Reviewed

Editor's note: This is the last of five dispatches reviewing the year in West Virginia. The stories will summarize the Top Ten stories of 1962, the year in government and politics, business and industry, the lighter side of the news and sports.

By JOHN T. KADY

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A last-second basket by Beckley's Billy Karbonit and an 8-2 record compiled by the West Virginia University football team constituted the top sports stories of 1962.

For sheer dramatic impact, nothing could beat the 71-69 come-from-behind-win Beckley pulled over Weirton in the Triple-A championship game.

The Flying Eagles and Weirton were both 24-0 and rated No. 1 and 2 in the UPI Coaches Poll when they tangled in the championship game. Weirton led by as much as 15 points in the final period before Beckley began shipping away at the lead.

The climax came when Karbonit drove down the lane with about

$148,380,000 Budget Wins Tentative Nod

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Board of Public Works Wednesday tentatively approved a 1963-64 budget recommendation calling for expenditures totaling about $148,380,000.

Barring last-minute changes at what is expected to be the board's concluding meeting on the budget Thursday, the figure comes within an eyelash of revenues for the same period, estimated by Finance Commissioner Truman Gore to be $148,390,000.

When the board officially finishes its work on the budget, the Finance and Administration Department will print the document for presentation to the Legislature when it convenes Jan. 9.

The BPW still plans to recommend allocations of about $4 million in surplus funds the state expects to have on hand at the end of the current fiscal year.

It also must approve Gore's estimate of revenues for 1963-64. Gore's figures include continuation of the consumer's sales tax and other taxes due to expire June 30.

Firemen Elect At Petersburg

PETERSBURG—Jerome Munting is the new president of the Petersburg Volunteer Fire Company.

Ralph Thompson was elected chief. Earl Brown and Wesley Cosner are assistant chiefs.

Other officers are Linton Sites, vice president; Robert Hill, secretary; Max Borror, treasurer; Esmond Taylor, trustee; Harold Kesner, captain; Arthur Alt, first lieutenant; Snowden Alt, second lieutenant; Jesse Greenawald, sergeant-at-arms; Rev. John Bird, Rev. Wilton Thomas and Rev. Charles Sanger, chaplains.

The annual fire report showed a total of 22 calls during the year. Total loss was $31,475.00 to buildings and contents.

Statistics further showed that 24-hours were actually spent on the fires, and that a total of 200 miles were covered.

Scout Party Today

LUKE — The Senior Scout Council will hold its annual mistletoe party today from 8 to 11 p. m. in the parish house of St. James Episcopal Church, Westernport. New officers will be installed.

MT. SAVAGE — St. George's Episcopal Church will observe the Children's Festival on Holy Innocents' Day Friday at 7 p. m. Members of the church school will present recitations and a program.

five seconds remaining to sink the ship that gave the Flying Eagles the win.

On the football front, Coach Gene Corum's rebuilding program began paying off in roses this past season as the Mountaineers lost only to bowl-bound Oregon State and Penn State.

Along the way they knocked off such arch-rivals as Pitt, Syracuse and Virginia Tech. Unheralded quarterback Jerry Yost set a new total offense record of 1,361 yards—and he'll be back next season.

Former West Virginia University pole vaulter Dave Turk made headlines last April when he soared 16-feet-2 inches at the annual Mt. San Antonio Relays at Walnut, Calif.

Tork, now working for the West Virginia Department of Commerce, had never gone above 14 feet 1-2 inch as a collegian.

A homespun giant who led West Virginia University to its "golden years" in football died in 1962.

Art (Pappy) Lewis suffered a heart attack June 4 at his Pittsburgh home and died 10 days later. Lewis resigned in the spring of 1960 and accepted a position as chief talent scout of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

West Virginians focused on Beckley and Bluefield in April as heavyweight boxer Tunney Hunsaker fought for his life. Hunsaker suffered a critical brain injury in a bout at Beckley and underwent two emergency operations before beginning the slow road back to recovery.

West Virginia University and Morris Harvey dominated the college basketball scene last season. Rod Thorn returned to summer school after dropping out following the 1961 season to lead the Mountaineers to a 24-6 record and the Southern Conference Championship.

Morris Harvey won the West Virginia Conference "Triple Crown" in compiling a 27-6 record, the best in the school's history. The Golden Eagles won the WVC regular season title, the conference tournament and the NAIA District 28 playoff.

Food Stamp Plan May Be Expanded

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Welfare Commissioner W. Bernard Smith Wednesday said his department is working on a proposed plan to select additional distribution points for federal food stamps other than present county seat locations.

There is no effective date for the plan, Smith said, but it would be put into effect by Jan. 15, providing it is approved by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The stamps, distributed to needy persons at county seats in McDowell, Mingo, Logan and Wayne counties, are used like money to purchase food and other necessary items.

Under the proposed plan, Smith said, stamps would be distributed at various points in the counties rather than at one location. He said this would allow recipients to get the stamps more conveniently and will give more trade opportunities to smaller food store merchants in other communities.

Waiting time for the stamps will also be cut, he said. The stamps presently are issued once each month.

ference tournament and the NAIA District 28 playoff.

In high school action, Lenore won its first state championship by defeating Gary District 65-51 in the Class AA finals and Williamstown won the "small school" title by beating Chattahoochee 60-53.

The West Virginia Catholic High School tournament was won by Wheeling Central as the Maroons defeated Clarksburg Notre Dame 62-33.

The first two Negroes ever to be given West Virginia University football scholarships enrolled at the university in 1962. They are Dick Leftridge of Hinton and Roger Alford of Winterville, Ohio.

Billy Campbell, Ed Tutwiler, Sam Snead and Nancy Stump dominated the golf scene. Campbell won his seventh West Virginia Amateur Golf title. Tutwiler won the State Open. Snead took the PGA and Mrs. Stump won the West Virginia Women's Amateur title.

Bluefield capped an undefeated season by trouncing Parkersburg 40-12 to win the Class Triple-A football title. Keyser took the Double-A crown by defeating Summersville 35-20 and Rainelle romped over Sophia 32-7 for the "small school" championship.

Kennedy Award winner Joe White led Charleston Catholic to an undefeated season and the West Virginia Catholic Championship with a win over Wheeling Central.

West Virginia's professional football entry—the Wheeling Ironmen of the United Football League—won the league title in their first year of competition.

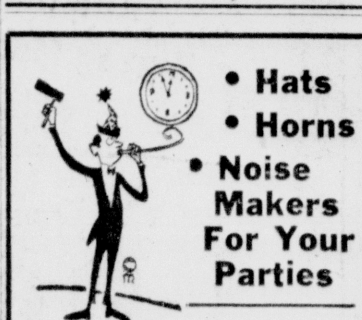

Former WVU All-American Jerry West scored 63 points as the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the New York Knicks last season—the greatest scoring performance on record for a backcourt man in the NBA.

X-Ray Machine Check Urged In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Health Director N. H. Dyer Wednesday called upon doctors and dentists in private practice to be certain their x-ray machines meet current standards of radiation protection.

Dyer said a recent check of state-owned x-ray machines showed about 70 per cent of them exposed patients to unacceptably large doses of radiation.

The most common defects, Dyer said, were too large an x-ray beam or inadequate filtration. Both of these are easily corrected and most units in state and local health agencies now meet standard requirements, Dyer said.

418th Fatality Is Recorded On W. Va. Highways

WELCH, W. Va. (UPI)—Mose Watkins, 60, Elkhorn, McDowell County, was killed Christmas evening in a two-car collision on U.S. 52 near Northfork.

The car in which Watkins was riding collided with one driven by Robert Parkman, 56, Elkhorn.

Parkman and Clarence Hale, 63, Maybrey, and his wife, Helen Hale, 54, occupants of the second car, were injured.

Watkins' death was the 418th traffic fatality in West Virginia this year and the eighth reported during the 102-hour Christmas holiday period that ended at midnight Tuesday.

W. Va. Road Work Bids Opening Set

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Two highway improvement projects estimated to cost about $1 million will be opened for bids Thursday by the State Road Commission. They involve construction of about two miles of roadway and two bridges.

One project is for construction of about one mile of Sec. 15 between White Sulphur Springs and Alvon, in Greenbrier County, and erection of two bridges, each about 30-feet long.

The other is for construction of about one mile of Interstate 64 in Putnam County, from the Kanawha River Bridge to a point six-sixths-of-a-mile east of W. Va. 25.

The first coins were struck in the United States Mint on Oct. 9, 1792.

Conventions Are Asset To Economy Of W. Va.

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI)—Conventions became the Upper Monongahela Valley's major industry during 1962, yielding an estimated $1.5 million.

Norman Laughlin, manager of the Upper Monongahela Valley Association, said the estimate was made from reports by convention committee chairmen of the Morgantown, Clarksburg and Fairmont chambers of commerce.

Joel Hannah of the Morgantown Chamber of Commerce said his city more than doubled its convention total and "we expect another good year in 1963."

Morgantown led the three cities during 1962 by "hosting" more than 10,000 persons attending state or regional conventions and meetings.

Harry Wendel of Fairmont said the Marion County city hosted about 5,000 convention delegates.

including about 1,000 who attended West Virginia Restaurant Association.

"The coming year will be at least equal the 1962 total and 1964 already is shaping up as a banner convention year for us," Wendel said.

Harry Berman of Clarksburg said the county seat of Harrison County also was visited by about 5,000 attending conventions during 1962. Berman is "looking for a banner year in 1963" including some 4,000 teachers who will be attending a regional meeting.

Frostburg Directory Published

New Book
Is Compact

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg city directory including residents of the rural area, published by R. L. Polk and Company of Richmond, Va. is out this week.

The directory is a peculiar book, alone in its field, and with a style all its own. Like the dictionary, it says much in a few words, many of them abbreviated to a "skeleton." While it does not attempt to rate credit, it does furnish clues in this direction; it distinguishes between corporations and co-partnerships, bachelors and bachelorettes, misses and matrons, employers and employees, executives and janitors. It is democratic in that alphabetical sequence is the ironclad rule of priority in the listings. Thus one may note that here for once pauper and millionaire, ragmuffin and Beau Brummel, workman and "big wheel," hod carrier and captain of industry, scrubwoman and social dowager, "Judy O'Grady and the Colonel's Lady," rich man, poor man, beggar man and thief, rub elbows.

Special features of the directory include the designations of tenant-owned and rented homes, heads of households, marital status, wives' names, and homes and places of business having telephones, a numerical telephone directory and an illustrated story of the city by the Chamber of Commerce.

The publishers commented on Frostburg's wide business diversity, pointing out that they found many different kinds of business and professional enterprises in operation here, ranging alphabetically from "Accountants — Certified Public" and going through to "Well Drillers and Boreholes" and running the diversified gamut through "Laundries — Self Serve," "Dairy Bars," "Dry Goods," "General Merchandise," etc.

The directory functions as a sort of ambassador for this busy city over the country, showing outsiders "who's who, what, where and how," the publishers pointed out. The latest issue of the book is distributed to numerous branches of the free directory library system, operated country-wide by the members of the Association of North American Directory Publishers, of which R. L. Polk & Co. is a member.

Birth Announced

FROSTBURG — Seaman and Mrs. Robert White, Norfolk, Va., announce the birth of a son on December 21. The mother is the former Miss Eileen Beal of Frostburg.

National Judging Champs

'West Virginia Progress' Is Issued By State Group

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Chamber of Commerce's new quarterly magazine, "West Virginia Progress," made its first appearance Wednesday.

The magazine included an interview with State Road Commissioner Burl A. Sawyers and a Quarterly Forecast by chamber managing director Earle L. Elmore. Elmore said the first quarter of 1963 promises to be "a period of relative stability," about 2 percent better than the first quarter of record-setting 1962, while Sawyers said the SRC will meet its 1972 target date for completion of the state's interstate highway system.

Chamber head Hardin R. Harmer, in a presidential message, defended the organization against criticism that its attitude is too "negative."

"We'll be positive whenever we can. But we won't hesitate to be negative when we feel we have to," he said.

On the cover of the 36-page initial edition is a picture of the Interstate-64 bridge that will carry the Huntington-White Sulphur superhighway across the Kanawha River at Nitro. The magazine said "The bridge is symbolic of the West Virginia Interstate system and PROGRESS."

The magazine was authorized by the chamber at its last annual meeting and is edited by John J. Callahan, the chamber's public relations director. Elmore serves as executive editor.

At the Christmas party held at Chuckle's Bowling Alley, the youngsters were entertained with the singing of carols and Santa Claus presented a gift.

Over 100 children and their families attended. This was the first project of the group which was organized as a chapter of the Frosty Belles during Frostburg's sesqui-centennial celebration last summer.

The group also had Santa visit a sick child confined to his home. Gifts were presented from the club and friends.

Professor At University Comments On Economics

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia University professor James H. Thompson does not see eye to eye with United Nations economist John E. Moes who claims depressed communities should "do whatever it takes to buy industry."

Thompson, who directs the University's bureau of business research, said in a recent article in the Southern Economic Journal that the effectiveness of subsidies in attracting new plants is greatly over-rated.

Thompson, who admits there is a place for subsidies, said factors such as transportation facilities, location relative to markets and the supply and cost of labor are much more important than local subsidies in determining plant location.

Moes, a former member of the

W. Va. Is Probing Apparent Flooding Of Yule Tree Market

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Department of Agriculture started an investigation Wednesday to determine what led to the apparent flooding of the Christmas tree market in West Virginia.

Assistant Commissioner Gus Douglas said it was apparent from reports around the state that there was a surplus of trees this year.

One dealer in the Charleston area reported he sold only about half the 6,500 trees he bought.

Douglas said he wants to complete a survey on the tree market before advising growers on market conditions four and five years hence.

Alfalfa is thought to have been introduced to California from Chile in 1854.

Purchase Of School By W. Va. Is Unlikely

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The state probably will not buy the Don Bosco school and farm in Randolph County for use as a forestry camp for juvenile offenders.

The $350,000 tentatively recommended for the 1963-64 state budget to allow purchase of the school was eliminated Wednesday by the Board of Public Works.

Board members agreed with State Institutions Commissioner Chauncey Browning Jr. that the facilities were needed to supplant the forestry camp now operating at Davis. But the owners, a Catholic religious order, are asking for nearly twice as much as the state is able to pay, the board said.

The board decided to allocate extra money to modernize the ex-India Company on Manhattan Island in 1633.

Browning said the need for a new camp is urgent. He said that local judges are beginning to realize the value of sending juveniles to the camp at Davis instead of state prisons.

He said there now is a waiting list of boys to be sent to the camp, which has facilities for only about 90 persons. The modernization does not include plans for expansion, so the problem of more facilities still exists, Browning said.

First school in America was established by the Dutch East India Company on Manhattan Island in 1633.

South Hagerstown Comes From Behind To Defeat Allegany, 83-76

Petry Sparks Rallying Rebels With 28 Points

Vandenberg Plays Only Two Periods, Still Collects 26

By TED TROXELL

Allegany found out last night just how valuable a man it has in sophomore Steve Vandenberg, but the revelation proved costly to the Campers, who were beaten 83-76 by South Hagerstown in a wild exhibition at Campobello.

Vandenberg, the Campers' 6-6 1/2 center, drew his fourth personal foul with less than a minute gone in the second period and was benched for nearly two quarters, during which time the visiting Rebels battled from behind and turned what had looked like an Allegany rout into their third victory.

When big Vandy left the game with 7:06 to go in the first half, the Campers led by a 24-13 score. Vandenberg had matched South's entire point total up to that point, in addition to controlling the backboards.

For a while, it appeared as if his absence from the lineup would make little difference as Allegany stretched the advantage to 37-21. But before the half ended, South whittled this down to 39-31 and went ahead in the third period at 42-41, never to lose the upper hand the rest of the way.

An effective press applied by the Rebels rattled the Campers, several of whose frustrations were openly displayed. The press, plus the second half shooting of Rebel football stars Phil Petry and Dwight Guyton, led to the Alco demise.

Vandenberg returned to the lineup with 1:05 remaining in the third quarter and South leading 58-51. Four free throws by Jimmy Bell and a jump shot by Vandenberg with two seconds left cut the edge to 58-57 as the quarter ended, but Allegany was unable to get the lead again.

The Campers were within one point on two occasions in the closing frame—at 70-69 and 72-71. Petry, a sensational quarterback who was one of the most sought-after football players in the nation before signing a grant-in-aid with the University of Maryland, sparked the Rebels in the third period, during which they scored 27 points.

Finishes With 28
The husky 196-pound senior drove through the Camper defenses for buckets, and was a demon on defense. He scored 17 points in the last half and wound up with 28 to take scoring honors for the game. Petry missed only eight of 21 shots from the floor. As a team, South shot .500 with 34 field goals in 68 attempts.

Guyton, a football end who was Petry's favorite passing target on the gridiron, also played a key role in the second half surge, scoring all but two of his 15 points after intermission. George Miles and Craig Etchison had 13 and 12 points, respectively, for the Rebels.

Vandenberg, who scored 13 points before his enforced hiatus, collected the same number after returning to the lineup and wound up with 26 for the night. Vandy now has 26 points in Allegany's first four games. Mick Robinson scored 20, including ten from the foul line in 11 attempts. Doug Shook had 12 and Bell ten.

The Campers, who lost their second game in four starts, played without the services of regular forward Larry Snyder, who is out with an ankle injury, and "sixth man" Paul Light, who is suffering from influenza.

Liston Favors Baltimore As Title Bout Site

BALTIMORE (AP) — A representative of Championship Sports, promoter of the Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson heavyweight championship fight, said Wednesday he is favorably impressed with Baltimore as the site for a rematch, but that the decision must be made by Patterson.

Al Bolen, brother of Championship Sports president Tom Bolen, and Liston's adviser, Jack Nilson, met Wednesday in a closed session with the Maryland State Athletic Commission.

Bolen said after the meeting that he did not ask for a license to stage the fight. "We just wanted to know the requirements for promoting a fight in Maryland," he said.

Asked if the fight would be held in Baltimore, Nilson said, "As far as Liston is concerned, yes."

Bolen Neutral
"And as far as I'm concerned, I'm neutral," Bolen said. "It now remains for Floyd to decide." Patterson has indicated that he wants the fight either in Baltimore or Las Vegas. Bolen will fly to Las Vegas to look at facilities there Thursday.

Since the first fight in Chicago last September, principals of both camps have argued over terms of the rematch. The original contract guaranteed Patterson the choice of time, location and promoter for the return bout.

However, the federal government seized receipts of the first bout, and Liston the world heavyweight champion, still has not received more than $200,000 of his share. Nilson has charged that the contract was broken and that Liston is no longer bound by it.

Both sides indicated Wednesday, however, that an agreement might be reached soon. Nilson will meet with Patterson Thursday in New York. "I believe we will be a lot closer to it (agreement) after tomorrow night," Nilson said.

Bolen and Nilson agreed that the money must be paid to Liston before a rematch can be staged.

Nilson suggested March 18 as a date for the return bout. Bolen said March or April would be a good month.

Nilon, Patterson Meet
Bolen said he was sure no decision would be made until after Nilon and Patterson meet Thursday night.

Liston, does not have a license to fight in Maryland, but Charles Rosenbaum, chairman of the state athletic commission, said he saw "no reason why Liston shouldn't be granted a license."

"When they apply, we will judge it on its merits," he said. Rosenbaum declined to comment on opposition to a rematch by the World Boxing Association. The organization has said that Patterson should earn the right to a rematch by meeting other fighters.

Emile Bruneau, chairman of the WBA's world championship committee, has said that any state or nation allowing such a bout should be suspended from the organization.

"I don't think we should make any statement about that until there is a license sought," Rosenbaum said.

JFK To Sit Amid Sooner Rooters

MIAMI (AP)—President John F. Kennedy will sit on the visitors' side of the field amid the Oklahoma rooters for the Orange Bowl football game with Alabama Jan. 1.

Details of the President's attendance at the post-season classic were worked out Wednesday between White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger and members of the Orange Bowl committee.

A special box is being constructed in the south stands for the presidential party.

AAU Will Deal Only With NCAA

MacArthur Has Tough Assignment

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has taken on another tough job in accepting the assignment from President Kennedy to arbitrate the dispute between the warring AAU and NCAA, it became more apparent than ever Wednesday.

The president of the AAU said his organization is ready to resolve the dispute with the NCAA "at any time" over the conduct of amateur athletics in the United States. But he said the other party in the talks must be the NCAA and no other group.

Then, in a statement released by AAU headquarters here, President Louis J. Fisher of High Point, N.C., slammed the NCAA and omitted any reference to the U.S. Track and Field Federation. The NCAA refers to the USTFF as the NCAA's "puppet."

The USTFF has sought to replace the AAU as the American representative to the International Amateur Athletic Federation, key organization for the certification of track and field athletes for the Olympics and other international competition.

The AAU is polling its 32-man executive committee on whether it will agree to compulsory arbitration of its dispute with the NCAA as suggested by President Kennedy. The AAU said its constitution requires a majority vote of its executive committee on such matters. Col. Don Hull, executive director of the AAU, said he expected to have most of the votes by Jan. 1.

Last Monday, when President Kennedy announced Gen. MacArthur's appointment to arbitrate, Walt Byers, executive director of the NCAA, made this comment in a statement:

"The dispute rests between the U.S. Track and Field Federation and the AAU, although it is well known that the NCAA is an enthusiastic supporter of the federation concept. The U.S. Track and Field Federation has an excellent cause and indicative of the federation's desire to cooperate with President Kennedy is the fact that the federation governing council will meet in Chicago Dec. 28 to act on the President's proposal for arbitration."

Illinois Tramples Penn Cagers, 98-66

NEW YORK (AP)—Hitting 56 per cent from the field, Illinois' fast-breaking basketball team trampled Pennsylvania 98-66 in the opening round of Wednesday's Holiday Festival Tournament.

Five Illinois players scored in double figures as the tall and talented Big Ten outfit built a 41-30 halftime lead and poured it on with a 57-point second half for its sixth victory without a defeat. The loss was Penn's first after five victories.

Bill Burwell paced the Illini attack with a 26-point output although he sat out the last 10 minutes of the first half and the last 4 minutes of the final period. John Wideman, Penn's captain and Rhodes Scholarship award winner, was held to 11 points. Team scoring honors went to Ray Carazo who had 16.

Packers Drill In Sub-Zero Temperatures

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers came back from their Christmas holiday Wednesday to the cold realities of preparing for defense of their National Football League championship against the Giants in New York Sunday—and seldom have realities been colder.

The thermometer dropped to 19 degrees below zero, a record for the date, early Wednesday and still sulked at 14 below when Coach Vince Lombardi muffled his champions in ski masks and sent them onto the field.

Paul Hornung, who has been running only at idling speed since he twisted a knee at Minneapolis in mid-October, was moving as well as any time this season, and for the first time in more than two months launched a long series of booming kicks from placement. Fullback Jim Taylor said happily, "We had a real good workout."

After Wednesday's workout, Lombardi expressed the somewhat conservative view that, "It looks as though we'll be ready—but so will they." The Packers will work out again Thursday, with the last drill scheduled for Friday, just before boarding a plane for New York. They hope to loosen up Saturday morning in Yankee Stadium if field conditions permit.

Mont Signs Two Alabama Gridders For Crusade Bowl

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two members of the Orange Bowl bound University of Alabama football team have signed to play in the 1st annual Crusade Bowl game here Jan. 6, the sponsors announced Wednesday.

Tommy Mont, procurement director of the game and former University of Maryland head coach, said Charlie Pell, 6-3 tackle, and Carlton Rankin, 6-0 fullback, planned to play for the East squad.

The game pits draftees of the Eastern Division clubs of the National Football League against the draftees of Western Division teams.

Neither Pell nor Rankin were picked in the recent NFL draft, but were selected for the Crusade Bowl on the basis of outstanding play this past season. Proceeds from the game will benefit the American Cancer Society.

A'S ON TOP

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Three Kansas City Athletics were among the top 10 batters in the American League in 1962, giving the A's the best team representation in the National League. Three were Norm Siebern, ranked fifth with a .308 average, and Jerry Lumpe and Manny Jimenez, tied for eighth with .301.

Sentinels Meet Alumni In Home Opener Tonight

Petersburg Is Site Of Holiday Tourney

Fort Hill's unbeaten Sentinels, who have scored all four of their early season victories on the road, make their 1962-63 home debut tonight when they meet the Alumni at 8 p. m.

In the only other area cage action slated today, four West Virginia schools will open a two-day holiday tournament at Petersburg High School.

The pairings for that event match host Petersburg against Circleville, and Moorefield versus Franklin. Tonight's winners will clash tomorrow for the tourney championship.

Coach Jimmy Eckard's well-balanced Sentinels have swept to victories over South Hagerstown (64-55), Fort Ashby (66-39), Martinsburg (59-38) and LaSalle (74-55).

John J. (Bobby) Cavanaugh, former Fort Hill cage boss who retired from that position after his 1957-58 team won the Maryland Class A championship, will handle the alumni cagers in tonight's contest.

Cavanaugh has lined up more than a dozen ex-Sentinels for the contest, and stated last night that any others who have not been contacted may play by coming to the Fort Hill gymnasium tonight. Members of the 1958 title quint slated to see action are DeWarren (Junior) O'Neal, Donnie Lewis and Charlie Robinson. Other players expected to perform include Dick Peck, Bill Colbert, Bill Sheetz, Glen Shipway, Jim Rice, Dick Bittner, Ronnie Manges, Leroy Henry, Dave Clem, Ronnie White, Wellington Donahue and Dave Baldwin.

Officials for tonight's contest will be Bill Phillips and Paul Flick. A preliminary game between the Sentinel Jayvees and Wise Chips of the High School Rec League will precede the main go. Tipoff time for that battle has been set for 6:45.

Cubs Sign Elston

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Cubs Wednesday announced the signing of Don Elston, a right-handed relief pitcher who won four games and lost eight in 1962.

Elston, 33, has made 309 appearances in five full seasons with the Cubs, an average of 61 a season. He is the third Cub to sign for 1963.

Sherman Honored

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Washington Touchdown Club Wednesday named Allie Sherman of the New York Giants the professional football coach of the year.

HIGH SCORER

BOSTON (UPI)—Don McKenney of the Boston Bruins has scored 20 of more goals in all but one of his eight seasons in the National Hockey League. The veteran center enjoyed his greatest season in 1958-59 when he bagged 32 goals.

Ole Miss Returns To Practice Field

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)—The Sugar Bowl bound Mississippi Rebels returned to the practice field here Wednesday for their first workout since last Thursday. The Rebels devoted most of session to conditioning with the focus on running. Coach John Vaught put his players through some pass offense and defense work.

The team is scheduled to fly to New Orleans Monday in time for an afternoon workout.

West Virginia Edges Boston College 65-64 In Holiday Festival

Mike Wolfe's Goal Decides Overtime Battle

St. Bonnie Also Wins, Will Face WVU Tomorrow

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hard-driving St. Bonaventure were down Holy Cross, 62-58, and advanced to the semifinals of the Holiday Basketball Festival at Madison Square Garden Wednesday along with 12th-ranked West Virginia, which nipped Boston College, 65-64, in overtime.

St. Bonaventure, led by six-foot-six Miles Aiken, was just too big and too fast for the spunky Crusaders, who trailed 42-34 at half-time and dropped out of contention after going ahead, 59-58, with 7:56 remaining in the game.

A crowd of 1,695 saw Aiken put the Bonnies ahead to stay with two free throws. He promptly followed with another driving layup that made it 62-59 and began to open a gap which the Crusaders never could close.

Aiken paced St. Bonaventure with 24 points and teammate Bob Barnek added 20 more. Pat Gallagher was high scorer for Holy Cross with 21 points.

Wolfe Paces Win

Mike Wolfe, a six-foot-five clutch performer from Bell, W. Va., paced the Mountaineers to their victory over Boston College in the afternoon opener, an uphill battle for 17-point favorite West Virginia.

Although All-America candidate Rod Thorn was high scorer for West Virginia with 15 points and teammate Jim McCormick produced 12 more, it was Wolfe who tied the score for the Mountaineers at 58-51 five seconds before the end of regulation time and then sank the winning basket with only 13 seconds remaining in overtime.

Bob Furbush, a reserve guard from Waltham, Mass., scored all six of Boston College's points during the overtime session and the Eagles were in front, 64-62, with 36 seconds to go in overtime.

Bill Maphis narrowed West Virginia's deficit to 64-63 when he converted one of two foul shots. Wolfe hopped on Maphis' missed free throw try, circled under the basket and dunked in a layup for the winning two-pointer.

Guard Jerry Ward was Boston College's standout by far. Called "the best unknown basketball player in America" by B.C. coach Frank Power, the speedy Ward not only was individual high scorer with 20 points, but also turned in a superlative defensive job on Thorn by limiting him to three points during the first half.

Seized By Jitters

Seized by a possible case of Garden jitters, the Mountaineers, who rarely show well here, trailed throughout most of the first 20 minutes and left the floor behind, 36-31, at half-time.

Ward pumped in seven straight points during a 5½-minute stretch to move the Eagles ahead 45-35, early in the second half before Thorn moved into action and the Mountaineers began to put the heat on.

With Thorn and Wolfe taking turns stealing the ball, Wolfe tied the score at 56-56 with 2:11 left to play. Dave Reynolds put the Eagles in front with a layup seven seconds later.

After Thorn stole another Boston College pass but missed his shot at the basket, Wolfe grabbed the rebound and tapped it in, tying the score at 58-58 and sending it into overtime.

Crozier Wins Coast Feature

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, making his debut in the West, Wednesday raced to a narrow victory over favored Olden Times in the $23,150 Palos Verdes Handicap, opening stakes feature of the 55-day Santa Anita winter race meeting.

Crozier had scored only one previous victory this year but that was a big one in the $100,000 Aqueduct Stakes in which he defeated Ridan and Carry Back last September.

Crozier raced the six furlongs in the excellent time of 1:09 1-5, just a fifth of a second off the stakes record set in 1954 by Imbros. The Hooper colt as second choice in the wagering returned $6.20 and $3.20 across the board. Olden Times paid $2.80 and $2.60 while third-place Songman returned $9.20.

Guglielmi's Knee Injury Raises Quarterback Problem For Giants

Gifford Available In Event Tittle Also Gets Hurt

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N.Y. (UPI) — Ralph Guglielmi's persistent knee injury raised the New York Giants' problem of a second-string quarterback Wednesday as the team went to work in the huge West Point field house to prepare for Sunday's game against the Green Bay Packers.

Coach Al Sherman said that a decision would be made following Thursday's practice whether Guglielmi will be ready to play in Sunday's National Football League championship game at Yankee Stadium.

"If Guglielmi is not ready," Sherman said, "we will have to look for another quarterback." Sherman explained.

Gifford long has entertained a desire to play quarterback, although he would not care to fulfill his ambition under any emergency conditions next Sunday.

All of the Giants except rookie halfback Paul Dudley made the trip to Bear Mountain. Dudley has a knee injury and probably will not even dress for the Green Bay game.

The Yellow Jackets (5-0) meet VPI (5-1) in the second game of the four-school event at the College. The opener pits the floundering Rice Owls (1-5) against the potentially good Florida Gators (4-2).

The championship and consolation games will be played Friday night.

Tech's Yellow Jackets are the surprise team of the Southeastern Conference this year. Relying on size and strength rather than spectacular ball-handling, coach Whack Hyder's cagers have played a slow, deliberate game with remarkable success.

Colorado State Stuns Trojans

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Hustling Colorado State University's spectacular outside shooting stunned seventh-ranked and previously unbeaten Southern California 72-54 Wednesday in the Los Angeles Basketball Classic.

Colorado State built up 20-point leads three times in the second half against Southern Cal. The Rams coasted to victory in the final minutes.

The taller visitors from Colorado seemed faster and beat the Trojans in every department of the game. They controlled both backboards and enjoyed a 44-22 lead in the rebound department.

The Rams also forced the Trojans into numerous ball-control errors. All-America candidate Bill Green led the balanced Rams attack with 21 points.

Colorado State led 38-21 at half-time.

Eight NBA All-Stars Selected By West

NEW YORK (UPI)—The eight players selected by the balloting of sports writers and broadcasters in the league cities for the West squad in the 13th annual National Basketball Association's all-star game were announced Wednesday.

Four of them—Elgin Baylor and Jerry West of Los Angeles, Walt Chamberlain of San Francisco and Walt Bellamy of Chicago — were unanimous choices.

The others chosen for the game, to be played in Los Angeles Jan. 16, are Bob Pettit of St. Louis, Bailey Howell and Don Ohl of Detroit and Guy Rodgers of San Francisco.

The white-haired labor leader emphasized at a news conference it was the function of the union's wage-policy committee to handle collective bargaining.

"We have not yet scheduled a meeting of the wage-policy committee," McDonald said. "It's up to this committee — of which I am a member — to determine whether that issue will be brought up. But, as of now, I absolutely will not comment on collective bargaining until the proper time."

The Kaiser plan, the extended employment plan (EEP) adopted by the can industry, the contract in the aluminum industry and employment security were noted by McDonald as the features of the union's accomplishments in 1962.

The Kaiser plan whereby employees share in cost reduction savings will be presented for ratification Jan. 11, 1963 at Fontana, Calif. If accepted, it will take effect March 1.

Under the extended employment plan, workers with 15 or more years seniority at the American Can Co. and Continental Can Co. plants will be granted 13 weeks vacation every five years. These vacations will enable others to work.

McDonald said the wage-policy committee will be guided by the Human Relations Committee made up of six members of the USW and an equal representation from management. The committee meets here Jan. 14 to report its findings.

McDonald said the issue of foreign steel sold in the U. S. "has been vastly exaggerated."

"It's true, of course, that even one pound of foreign steel sold here affects us," he said. "But we feel there is quite a bit of dumping of foreign steel in the U. S. I have asked both the Secretary of Commerce and the Secretary of the Treasury to investigate if dumping hurts our economy."

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 212 "Strategically, Lee's position in this battle was as bad as it could be. . . . The wages of defeat ought to have been destruction. . . . McClellan claims to have defeated Lee in the battle, but it is hard to say which should reflect least credit upon the Union commander: not to have defeated Lee's army or not to have destroyed it if he defeated it. Truth to tell, McClellan did neither."

That conclusion of M. F. Steele, regarding the events of Sept. 17-18, 1862, is only one of the views expressed by military historians. No battle has been re-fought more times on paper, with differing results, than the battle at Antietam Creek, Maryland, that stopped Lee's first invasion of the North. The fact remains that on the 18th, when the two armies held their line inactive, McClellan had some 87,000 effectives to turn against the 40,000 remaining to Lee. The Confederates had lost 3,500 killed (including three generals), 15,400 wounded, 6,000 missing, to 2,010 Union killed, 9,416 wounded, 1,043 missing. The night of the 18th Lee re-crossed the Potomac without interference by McClellan.

Disarmament Needn't Ruin Economy

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Only scientific advance planning will permit the United States to join in world disarmament without simultaneously wrecking its economy, the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told Wednesday.

The economists who did the telling were far from suggesting that fears of resulting economic havoc were now preventing the Western and the Communist worlds from agreeing on general disarmament.

But such fears might as their negotiations proceed, said one economist.

Suppose one side or the other offered a "reasonable" disarmament proposal, continued Dr. Emile Benoit. Then the other side might take the bleak economic consequences into account in deciding whether to go along with being reasonable.

Benoit said he had reason to believe Russia was planning how it could disarm without courting economic disaster, and Great Britain is known to be doing so. The United States, both in government and in industry, should be attacking the enormously complex question, he said.

He was project leader of a newly completed two-year research study of the economic consequences of disarmament and what might be done, economically, to prevent them from causing a major depression. Nine teen economists were involved. Benoit is professor of international business at Columbia University, New York City.

In essence, their plan, which will be published in full in May, advocates tax cuts of such scope coupled with increases in non-defense government spending, especially for welfare, of such size that the federal budget would operate with a "moderate deficit" of $3 billion annually for a number of years.

It is one of five alternatives. One alternative is "a laissez-faire policy" of doing nothing to offset the losses which general disarmament would impose on the economy. This policy, he said, would result in a $37 billion decline in the gross national product and four million lost jobs.

A second alternative would be to divide the "defense saving" between tax cuts and reductions of the national debt and "this would lead to substantial declines in national income and employment, producing at least a recession and a period of slow growth."

"Even more dangerous in this respect would be a three-way split, with about one-third of the defense savings applied to tax cuts, national debt reduction and new public expenditure programs," Benoit said, speaking for the team.

The final alternative would be to try to stabilize the economy

Hectic Last-Minute Drive Cited In Ransom Pledges

By JOHN HERBERS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sure, the friend told Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, put me down for a million.

That pledge, given to the attorney general during a telephone conversation last weekend, raised one-third of $2.9 million in cash that Fidel Castro suddenly had demanded to clinch the deal for releasing 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners.

The other two-thirds, a Justice Department spokesman said Wednesday, was raised in a hectic last-minute drive headed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

The $2.9 million demanded by Castro stemmed from a deal the Cuban premier had made previously with the Cuban Families Committee for the release of 60 of the most seriously wounded prisoners in the 1961 Bay of Pigs disaster.

Castro released the men but never received the $2.9 million promised by the committee. Last weekend he demanded that the money be turned over before release of the 1,113 prisoners that reached U.S. shores Dec. 23 and 24.

John E. Nolan, a Washington attorney then in Havana for negotiations on the prisoner deal, immediately flew to Miami. Late Sunday night or early Monday, he telephoned the Justice Department.

Nolan, relaying a report from Chief U. S. negotiator James B. Donovan, said Castro was demanding the money by 3 p.m. Monday. This would be in addition to the $53 million in food and medicine which was raised by contributions from private companies.

Atty. Gen. Kennedy promptly put through a telephone call to a friend who the Justice Department says insists on remaining anonymous. After hearing details of the situation, the friend pledged $1 million to the cause.

Kennedy then asked Gen. Clay, who had served in an advisory capacity to the Cuban Families Committee, to come to Washington and try to raise the remainder.

Almost entirely with tax cuts. This, he continued, "would involve tax cuts and budget deficits so large as to be politically unrealistic."

ing $1.9 million. Working with Clay in the drive were Robert B. Anderson, Treasury secretary in the Eisenhower administration, and former Treasury official Robert Knight.

By the 3 p.m. deadline, according to the best sources, they either had raised all of the money or had placed enough of it in a Canadian bank to assure Castro that his payment would be forthcoming.

With that, release of the prisoners proceeded on schedule.

As President Kennedy made clear on his recent radio-television interview, he took personal responsibility for the failure of the Bay of Pigs invasion. For this reason, he felt an obligation for the fate of the prisoners.

His brother, the attorney general, was assigned the task of coordinating government efforts in the transaction. But the Kennedys feared Castro might back out of the deal if government participation was disclosed prematurely.

Many of the drug and other firms requested to supply drugs and food had some doubts about the deal. They were sensitive to public criticism of the entire Cuban situation. But Robert Kennedy allayed their fears in a series of private meetings.

The attorney general told the company officials that he understood why some of them might be hesitant. But he said the United States had a responsibility to get the prisoners out of Cuba and nothing contrary to the U.S. public interest would be attempted.

The companies also were aware that they could contribute supplies at wholesale cost and deduct the market value from taxable income.

Final Meetings Planned By Legislators

Assembly To Open Next Wednesday

Three legislative hearings, the last to be held before the General Assembly opens January 2, will be held today and tomorrow by Allegany County legislators.

The meetings will be attended by Senator - Elect George R. Hughes Jr. and Senator Charles M. See and fellow members of the Allegany County Delegation.

The first meeting, with the Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital, will be held today at 10 a.m. at the Cumberland County Club.

Revised plans for the expansion of the hospital will be discussed, Senator See said.

The second meeting will be with officials of the Western Maryland Central Labor Council, AFL-CIO, and will be held at 3 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

Legislation of interest to organized labor will be outlined at the conference.

To Leave Tuesday

The legislators will hold the final conference tomorrow with officials of the Allegany County Welfare Board.

The luncheon meeting will be held at 12:15 p. m. in the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Senator See said the seven legislators plan to leave here on New Year's Day for Annapolis, where a 90-day session opens January 2.

New Year's Day is not always a holiday for members of the General Assembly, he said, since the constitution requires that the long sessions begin on the first Wednesday.

Senator Hughes and the Delegation made plans, during the recent legislative hearings, to hold joint meetings on local legislation and on state-wide measures which affect Allegany County.

Such conferences, Senator See said, will keep both sides of the Assembly informed on the legislative program and prevent "people from being torn between the two bodies."

To Meet Soon

The first of the conferences will probably be held during the week of January 7 after the Assembly has organized.

The first business will be to elect a state treasurer, presiding officers for the House and Senate and the introduction and referral to committees of bills sponsored by the Legislative Council.

Committee appointments will probably be delayed until early in the second week, Senator See said.

The Democratic majority, he said, will have to elect leaders for the Senate and House.

The outnumbered Republicans have completed that task. Senator Harry Phoebus, Somerset County, has been elected Senate minority leader and Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr., of Allegany County, the minority leader of the House. Senator See will head the six-man Allegany County Delegation.

Rubber Workers Hold Annual Yule Party

Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, held its annual Christmas party for children Saturday afternoon at the National Guard Armory.

Santa was present for the local's 10th Christmas party and distributed toys and treats to the children. Refreshments were served by the Entertainment committee and members of the Ladies Auxiliary.

The program opened with organ music played by Mickey Welsh. The Crescendos, Joe Derrico, Frank Valentine, Gregory Green, John Kreidler, Terry Cox, Joe Nemis and Gary O'Neal, played several selections.

Accordian music by Kenneth Sties and tap dancing by Donna Harden followed, along with songs by the White Sisters, Bonnie, Linda, Judy and Dorothy.

Songs by Joetta Rosskamp and Sharon Wilkinson were followed by songs, tap dancing and acrobatics by the Steckman Dancers.

J. W. Stein, president, served as master of ceremonies.

County Farmers To Get Awards

Marshall Porter of Eckhart, right, outstanding conservation farmer of the year in Maryland, is shown being congratulated by J. R. Beard of Baltimore, representative of the Goodyear Rubber Company prior to Mr. Porter's departure from Baltimore for Arizona, where he was a guest of the company and viewed an irrigation project. Second from the right is Wilbert R. Paul of Mt. Savage, who traveled to Arizona and represented Allegany

District Soil Conservation Supervisors, the top district in the state. On the left is Fred Bull, secretary of the State Soil Conservation District. Mr. Porter and Mr. Paul will receive awards from the rubber company during the annual meeting of the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts and State Soil Conservation Committee early next month at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore.

Local 180 Plans Installation Of Officers

One Committeeman Is Being Elected

Newly elected officers of Local 180, Glass Workers Union, will be installed today at 7:30 p.m. in the Bowman's Addition Fire Hall.

Andrew M. Lewis Jr., retiring president of the local, will be the installing officer. To be obligated are:

Harold G. Fansler, president; William Edward, vice president; Arthur M. Maness, financial secretary; Ray Jenkins, recording secretary.

Don Andrews, trustee; Don Browne, chairman; William Hersch, vice chairman; and Ervin Ross, inner guard.

Robert Seymour, Leroy Schooley, Hubert Feeney, Joe Falconi and Kenneth Logsdon, Industrial Relations committee.

A stag party will be held following the installation. Members of the refreshment committee are Mr. Fansler, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Feeney, Earl Boore and Mr. Edwards.

Local 180 will hold an election today and tomorrow at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant to elect a local wage committee.

Bedford Road Man Donates Community Tree

William S. Snyder, Bedford Road, donated the 40-foot pine tree which has brightened the Christmas season for the entire community.

The brightly-lighted tree was erected by city workers on the site of old Fort Cumberland at Emmanuel Episcopal Church and has been illuminated each night since the tree lighting ceremony on December 17. It will remain lighted nightly until Epiphany, Sunday, June 6.

Service Line Break Repaired

A broken service line which was wasting up to 50,000 gallons of water each day has been repaired by Water Department crews.

The leak was located at the Winnow-Williams street intersection after water was found running into a nearby flood control conduit.

Commissioner G. Ray Light said the trouble came from an abandoned service line which had been cut off at the main.

He said crews found the 34-inch copper line was broken and that parts were 18 inches apart. Many such leaks were found and repaired during the water survey which was completed for the city this spring.

Watch Night Planned

Melvin Methodist Church will hold a candlelight Watch Night service at 11 p.m. New Year's Eve. Rev. Frank G. Wanek, pastor, will speak on the "Meaning of Yesterday."

Fellowship and refreshments will follow in the church basement.

Swallow Falls One Of First State Forests In Country

How Swallow Falls State Forest in Garrett County came into being is recalled in the latest issue of the Newsletter of the State Department of Planning.

This forest, now with 7,500 acres, was one of the first state-owned forests in the United States. It grew from a tract of 1,951 acres, donated to the state in 1905 by John and Robert Garrett.

Tawes Extends Library Board Term Of Man

A corrected commission signed by Governor J. Millard Tawes appointing F. Allan Weatherholt, this city, to a full seven-year term on the Board of Library Trustees for Allegany County beginning January 1 has been received at the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court.

Earlier in the month, Governor Tawes sent an incorrect commission reappointing Mr. Weatherholt for only three years.

Mr. Weatherholt is the third of the original library trustees to be reappointed for seven years after their staggered terms ended. Okey Michael, Westernport, started a seven-year term January 1, 1961, and W. Wallace McKaig, this city, began a seven-year term last January 1.

Only one change has been made in the library board since its organization in June 1960. Mrs. Jeanette C. Johnson, formerly of LaVale, originally named for a seven-year term, had to resign last summer when she moved to the Washington area. R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, qualified as her successor June 21.

Other board members whose original terms have not yet expired include former County Commissioner John T. Mason, Cresaptown, four-year term ending January 1, 1964; Dr. Adam Baer, Frostburg, five-year term ending January 1, 1965, and James Alfred Avirett, this city, six-year term ending January 1, 1966.

Officers of the board which operates the county-wide library are Dr. Baer, chairman; Mr. Mason, vice chairman; Mr. Michael, secretary; and Mr. Avirett, treasurer.

Births

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Fodero, West Orange, N. J., announce the birth of a daughter on Christmas at St. Michael's Hospital in Newark, N. J. The mother is the former Nellie Anne Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Homer Wilson, 105 Washington Street.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Frank, 1484 McMullen Highway, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Kersesz, 1045 Caroline Avenue, Keyser, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Creagan, 517 Furnace Street, a son Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest O. Clem, Romney, a daughter on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow W. Hamilton Jr., Smith Apartments, Kelly Boulevard, a son Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Willison, Eckhart, a daughter on Sunday.

Prompt Removal Of Snow Urged

City officials announced yesterday that the snow removal ordinance requires the prompt removal of snow here.

The ordinance provides that the snow must be removed by the owner, tenant or agent within six hours after the fall of any snow and provides penalties for failure to comply.

One of the complaints concerned a woman who slipped and fell yesterday as she was leaving an office on Greene Street.

New Directory Of Cumberland To Be Issued

24,922 Names Are Listed In Volume

If you didn't make the current social register, let it disturb you no longer. The Cumberland City Directory, including LaVale and Ridgeley, published by R. L. Polk & Co., Richmond, Va., is out this week, and you've probably made that—if you live or work in Cumberland or vicinity and are at least 18.

The city directory has a style all its own. Like the dictionary, it says much in a few words, many of them abbreviated.

The new edition is a substantial volume, listing 24,922 names in Cumberland and vicinity. The combined names of man and wife are considered as only one name, the publishers pointed out.

Special features of the directory include the designations of tenant-owned and rented homes, heads of households, marital status, wives' names, and homes and places of business having telephones, a numerical telephone directory and an illustrated story of the city by the Chamber of Commerce.

The publishers commented on this area's wide business diversity, pointing out that they found many different kinds of business and professional enterprises in operation here, ranging alphabetically from abattoirs to wool dealers.

The latest issue of the book is distributed to numerous branches of the free directory library system operated country-wide by the members of the Association of North American Directory Publishers, of which R. L. Polk & Co. is a member.

The Dawson appointment is being made now in planning for the scheduled retirement of Mr. Spofford in March.

Mr. Spofford is well-known by persons who attend meetings of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin. He regularly represents PE at these meetings.

His son, James D. Spofford, White Oaks Manor, is connected with the Esso Standard Oil Company here. He is president of the Cumberland Rotary Club.

Youth Hurts Eye In Ski Accident Near Meyersdale

A 15-year-old Meyersdale, Pa., area youth injured his left eye while skiing yesterday and was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital for observation.

John Schutrick, of RD 1, Meyersdale, who resided with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dahl, is reported in "fair" condition at the hospital.

Attaches said the youth was skiing near his home and ran a ski pole in his eye. He was admitted to the hospital about 1:20 p. m.

Joins City Police

Marshall R. Simpson, RD 1, Buffalo Mills, Pa., is a probationary member of the Cumberland Police Department effective December 24, according to Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney, who said he was assigned to the 3 to 11 p. m. shift.

The annual Watch Night service will be held at Central Methodist Church at 11 p. m. New Year's Eve. Rev. Stanley G. Harrell is pastor.

The service will be an adaptation of John Wesley's Watch Night service first used in 1755. It consists of acts of adoration, thanksgiving and confession, and closes with a covenant prayer.

Elkins Urges Quick Work On Baltimore Campus

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, said Wednesday planning should start immediately if a Baltimore area campus of the university is to be developed to relieve the campus ties to meet continued increasing enrollment at Maryland.

He said the College Park campus could be expanded, but that the distances between buildings would necessitate lengthening periods between classes.

He said stricter screening of applicants also might be an answer, but he pointed out that if this were done, the bottom half of high school senior classes would have to hope of gaining admission to the university.

He said a Baltimore-area campus could take care of students from Baltimore and the surrounding counties.

Fluoridation Plan May Be Delayed Here

'Immediately' Is Deleted From Order

The Mayor and Council by a 3-2 vote yesterday ordered the deletion of a word in an order passed December 3 that in effect indefinitely delays fluoridation of the city's water supply.

The action was taken following a discussion on a motion by Water Commissioner G. Ray Light to rescind the fluoridation order. Hugh A. McMullen informed council the motion, to which no second was made, was out of order.

Following that advice, Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, offered a motion to delete the word "immediately" from the December 3 order.

The motion was seconded by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan, and passed with dissenting votes by Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill and Mayor Earl D. Chaney.

The action brought conflicting opinions from persons in the audience. Dr. Harold S. Malin, local chiropractor who has spearheaded the anti-fluoridation fight, commended council on its action, while John D. May, president of the Junior Association of Commerce, termed the vote a "definite disgrace to the city."

Ronald Screen, of Braddock Road, inquired what effect the deletion of the word would have on fluoridation, and after being informed it meant an indefinite delay, asked council to set a definite date for action, either for or against.

Mayor Chaney said the original order was made on the recommendation of county and state authorities, and members of the medical and dental professions. He emphasized he did not favor further delay in the matter.

Mrs. Roeder said she felt the only "error" in the December 3 order was that its passage was made before the general public had a chance to express opinions on the matter.

Commissioner Keegan stated that he still was in favor of the addition of fluorine to the water supply, but felt a reasonable length of time should be permitted to obtain the opinion of the public.

Mrs. Virginia Rosenbaum, local businesswoman, informed council she carried a petition against fluoridation that had been signed by 1,500 persons. The petition was not submitted because of today's vote against immediate action, although Mrs. Rosenbaum said the names could be offered to force a referendum in the event council eventually decides to add fluorine to the water supply.

PE Official To Retire Soon

F. D. Spofford, purchasing manager for Potomac Edison, plans to retire in March.

This fact was revealed with the PE announcement that Jennings P. Dawson, purchasing analyst for Potomac Edison since 1958, has been appointed assistant manager of purchasing.

The Dawson appointment is being made now in planning for the scheduled retirement of Mr. Spofford in March.

Mr. Spofford is well-known by persons who attend meetings of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin. He regularly represents PE at these meetings.

His son, James D. Spofford, White Oaks Manor, is connected with the Esso Standard Oil Company here. He is president of the Cumberland Rotary Club.

Damage Suit Is Moved Here

A damage suit from Washington County Circuit Court was moved to Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday.

The suit originally was filed July 27, 1961, by Girard Trust Corn Exchange Bank, Philadelphia, Pa., against Bruce Long, Sunrise Drive, Maugansville.

Involved in the action is a cattle purchase over a shipment of cattle. Associate Judge D. K. McLaughlin has signed an order that the amount at issue in the case is $15,738.73.

Judge McLaughlin signed an order moving the case to Allegany County after the defense attorneys questioned whether their client could get a fair trial in Washington County.

Meter Income Dips

Parking meter collections for the week ending December 16 totaled $768.35, a decrease of $78.15 from the previous week, the Mayor and Council was told yesterday.

Equity Suits Filed

Two new equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Wanda L. Middleton vs. Gerald I. Middleton and Sandra Lee Richardson vs. Robert Lee Richardson.

Bitter Cold Weather Forecast

More Snow Predicted

Bitter cold weather and more snow are forecast today in Western Maryland and the surrounding area.

The weatherman said a new cold wave that moved into West Virginia yesterday would be accompanied by clear skies and freezing temperatures with lows ranging from five to 15 degrees early this morning.

Similar readings are expected tonight in the area where high winds were reported clear.

No new snow was reported last night and the snow emergency plan was lifted in Allegany and Garrett counties midnight Christmas.

The temperature dipped to about 25 degrees last night in Cumberland and a similar reading was reported by the sheriff's office at Oakland.

The mercury rose to an unofficial high of 41 degrees yesterday and had dipped to about 28 degrees by 9 p.m.

Three inches of snow fell in Allegany County Christmas morning leaving the major highways in a hazardous condition.

However snow plows of the Maryland State Roads Commission went into action and by mid-afternoon the highways were practically clear, especially U. S. Route 220 from Cumberland south toward McCoole.

Tuesday's snowfall was the heaviest in Maryland on a Christmas Day since 1909 when 8.8 inches was measured in Baltimore.

Health Unit Issues Permits For City Jobs

The State Health Department has certified as adequate and issued construction permits for two water and sewage projects for which the City of Cumberland will seek federal matching funds.

Resolutions asking for federal funds under the Accelerated Public Works Program for the projects were adopted by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Permits for the water and sewage lines were issued by Thomas W. Shives, public health engineer for the State Health Department.

The resolutions gave Mayor Earl D. Chaney authority to apply to the Housing and Home Finance Agency for grants in aid in financing the projects.

The first project calls for the construction of an eight-inch sewer in the Johnson and Doll addition, extending 1,382 feet from Haddon Avenue to Williams Road.

The second project would include the construction of an eight-inch sewer line and a six-inch water line in the bed of Thompson Avenue, McKinley Avenue, Ridge Terrace and Ritchie Street.

Also passed was resolutions to certify that the City of Cumberland will make funds available for the projects if federal matching funds are provided.

The first certifies that the city has a $45,000 capital improvement budget for the fiscal year and will make $6,500 more available for the Thompson Avenue-Ritchie Street project.

The second resolution obligates the city to make at least $8,000 available for the Johnson and Dolls addition work if federal matching funds are allocated.

Applications For 'Tree Expert' Test Available Here

Official application blanks for "tree expert" license examinations are available at the District Forester's office in LaVale.

Written examinations for the licenses will be held by the Department of Forests and Parks, January 16 at 10 a.m. in the State Office Building, Annapolis.

Maryland law requires all persons engaged in the business or work of the treatment and care of trees, to have a license and be registered with the Department of Forests and Parks. The state agency requests that interested persons fill out and return the required official application blank as soon as possible.

The examination is open to any applicant, who is a citizen of the United States, or who duly declared his or her intention of becoming such a citizen, and who is over 21 years of age.

Bids Are Accepted

The Mayor and Council yesterday accepted the bid of the Independent Motor Fuel Supply Company for oil and gas, and the McClung-Logan Equipment Company bid of $1,075 for two salt and cinder spreaders.

Lakes Are Down

Water consumption last week averaged 11,457,000 gallons daily—about the same as a year ago, the Mayor and Council was told yesterday. Water in Lake Gordon was three feet below the spillway and Lake Koon was down 15 feet.

Salvation Army Cheer Fund Reaches $5,048

250 Baskets, 1,200 Toys Distributed

Major Ben Jones, commanding officer of the Salvation Army here, said last night that most of the Christmas cheer projects the agency had planned this season can be completed with the $5,048 collected at the army's Christmas Cheer kettle on Baltimore Street.

Although Major Jones was somewhat disappointed that the $5,500 goal was not reached he was pleased with the fine response Christmas Eve when $907 was received. Most of that was collected by Lewis J. Ort, a life member of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, and Major Jones, who assumed the responsibility for manning the kettle the last day.

The Cumberland Rotary Club will win recognition as the service club which collected the most money at the kettle. Rotarians brought in $668.48 last Saturday. The Cumberland Kiwanis Club was second with its $323.34 last Thursday while the Cumberland Lions Club brought in $284.78 last Friday when heavy snowfall kept many shoppers away from downtown.

This will mark the second time in three years that the name of the Rotary Club will appear on the lectern in the community room of Central YMCA for its top collecting performance. Rotary won in 1960, then lost to the Lions Club in 1961.

Some 250 food baskets were distributed to deserving families in the Tri-State area over the weekend by the Salvation Army. By making purchases at wholesale instead of giving food orders, the army was able to provide about one-third more food for each family.

More than 1200 toys were distributed for Christmas Cheer. Last night a Christmas party was staged at the Salvation Army Citadel for some 150 children. Friday night there will be another party at the citadel for some 50 women of the Home League.

Next Sunday some 300 Christmas sunshine bags will be distributed to the folks at the County Infirmary, County Home and Sylvan Retreat.

Mail Record Established At Post Office

Cumberland postal employees returned to work amid comparative calm yesterday after the local post office branch seemingly set a new mail-handling record for the holiday season.

The apparent record volume comes just weeks before new mailing rates become effective.

In the Christmas period this year—from December 9 through December 25—a total of 4,667,327 pieces of mail was handled through the local office, just a shade more than the 1961 total of 4,636,556.

Thomas F. Conlon Sr., postmaster, said yesterday that a new employee arrangement this year helped expedite processing of incoming and outgoing mail.

This year, for the first time, regular postal employees were authorized to work up to 12 hours per day, while the number of temporary holiday employees usually hired for the Christmas rush was limited.

Conlon said experience of the regular employees was a big factor in the smooth flow of this season's mail.

Some employees worked on Christmas Day delivering packages and parcel post items, while
